APT. WAARD TO SET SAIL IN FISHING JUNK TODAY

Attempt Crossing Of Pacific In Vessel Of 23 Tons

OMPLETES PLANS

n Kavalchuk Of River Police Joins On Hazardous Trip

ccompanied by Mr. John valchuk, for the past year n mber of the River Police , Captain George Waard, pper of the twenty-three ton nese fishing junk, the Amoy, ected to put out from the more Road jetty during the y hours today on the voyage, ch, he hopes, will take him oss the Pacific to Victoria, C.

inal preparations for the rney were made by Captain ard yesterday, and only a spell bad weather, he stated, would y him in starting. From anghai he hopes to steer a rse northward, and, after ting the coast of Korea, make way through the straits of kodate and then on with the anese current to the Aleutian nds and possibly to the thern coast of Alaska. The , the captain estimates, can made in two months if wea- conditions are favorable.

n line with his original plans, tain Waard is placing his reliance on sails and oars. crew is composed of three nese. Including Mr. Kavalk, there will be but five men ard. Provisions are being ded for a two months' trip. The purpose of the journey marily is to demonstrate the worthiness of the Chinese ing junk on a long and try- voyage. The Amoy was cially built for this trip by tain Waard at Amoy. It is y-eight feet long and has an teen foot beam, and is solid- constructed, for the most part camphorwood. It carries three in sails and three auxiliary s. It has a registered ton- e of 23.13. Throughout it is structed after the standard n of a fishing junk, although in accommodations are pro- ed in what would ordinarily used as the hold of the tiny sel.

Should Captain Waard succeed his plan to cross the Pacific, will have set a new record in rth-Pacific travel, as it is be- ved that the Amoy is the allest sailing vessel ever to empt such a passage.

Women Leaders In Wyoming Town

WOMEN are leaders in the political world in Cokeville, Wyo. Mrs. Ethel Stoner has been elected Mayor, the other two women having been elected to Council in a bitter contest with two other political parties of which all the candidates were men. The women promised law enforcement, with pledges not to enact blue laws. All three have long been prominent in Wyoming State women's club affairs.

Mrs. Elmore—Mrs. Norman Win Women's Tennis Title

Careful Defensive And Offensive Play By Winners Distinguishes Finals' Play At French Club

Careful tennis, both in offensive and on defensive play gave Mrs. J. Elmore and Mrs. Norman the 1922 ladies' doubles championship of the Shanghai Lawn Tennis association in the finals held yesterday afternoon on the courts of the French Club. The winning pair were easily the better as a team throughout the two sets of play. The score was 6-3, 6-1. Mrs. Irwin and Mrs. Enticknap were their opponents.

The play on the whole was open, slow and cautious. Mrs. Norman at times attempted the dashing style expected of tournament finals, but when games scores got close she also settled down to clever defensive work. Faulty tennis was not prominent. Games were decided on the breaks of steady, heady playing.

The four competitors each shone in their particular branch or specialty of tennis. Mrs. Irwin of the losing pair showed a very useful back hand return and a fine touch in sending the ball back on the spin. Mrs. Norman used an underhand stroke to very steady advantage. Mrs. Enticknap used wide open tennis methods with good results.

OFFENSIVE LACKING

The match was marked by its absence of attacking or offensive style of play. Each of the four ladies played the ball carefully, taking but few chances on any point. The play was wide open and on the long court system from start to finish. The winning pair were the slightly more aggressive, and slightly the better on defense. The whole play was clean, and slow and careful. But few tennis errors figured.

The losing pair took the first game of the opening set mostly on Mrs. Norman's faulty returns. The driving was good, though at long range and fairly easy to meet. Mesdames. Elmore and Norman made it 1-all in the next game, when after 40-all Mrs. Enticknap drove one fairly easy ball well off the court. Elmore and Norman took the third game after the score was fairly even up, on Mrs. Enticknap's outside play.

Play by the fourth game was getting better and more evenly balanced. All four participants were playing a studied game. When the count had reached 40-all. Mrs. Enticknap netted one return and Mrs. Norman followed immediately with a sharp drive clean through the court for the game. The next game was an easy set-to for Mrs. Irwin and Enticknap. Mrs. Norman and Elmore were off the play at this period and allowed sufficient points on faults to count against them.

The sixth game of the set went to 40-all, when Mrs. Enticknap in attempting a return of a short Smash by Mrs. Norman, spilled the ball off her shoulder for the 'vantage, and Mrs. Irwin followed with a failure to return a cross court drive by Mrs. Elmore. The last two games of the set were divided on even honors. Elmore and Norman taking the eighth without opposition and their opponents winning the ninth easily. The set ended 6-3 in favor of Mrs. Elmore and Mrs. Norman.

SECOND SET

The match went to the second set with honors approximately even in spite of the score against Mrs. Irwin and Mrs. Enticknap. Mrs. Norman and Mrs. Elmore

COUNCIL REJECTS SCHEME TO AID RICKSHA COOLIES

Suggests That Famine Body Help Existing Mission With Available Funds

Plans announced recently by the Chinese Foreign Famine Relief Committee to create a fund of $70,000 with the aid of the Municipal Councils of the International Settlement and the French Concession to give aid to needy ricsha men have failed to meet with favorable consideration from the Municipal Council of the Settlement.

In launching its proposal the famine relief body offered to supply $30,000 conditional on grants of $20,000 from the Settlement Municipal Council, $10,000 from the French Municipal Council and $20,000 from the general public. The purpose set forth was to employ the fund to help deserving ricsha workers to own their own ricshas or, after a stated period, to enable the older coolies to retire with enough to buy a piece on land upon which they could live.

In its reply to the proposal the Council expresses the belief that the scheme would not be practicable, contending that no great number of ricsha pullers make pulling their profession; that except as a commodity to buy, sell and mortgage, the ownership of a public ricsha would not appeal to many of them and that from the point of view of licensing and police control, individual ownership of public ricshas was to be discouraged rather than encouraged, but that if the Relief Committee had Famine Relief funds which could be diverted to the improvement of the ricsha coolies' lot, members would suggest that it could not do better than contribute to the funds of the Ricsha Mission conducted by Mr. George Matheson—an existing organisation which does continuous and excellent work among the coolies.

DISBAND ALL TROOPS HERE, NOW CRY OF LOCAL GENTRY

Shanghai Merchants Seek Dissolution Of Ho's Unit

MEETING CALLED

Eight Organisations Will Discuss Plan Of Disbandment

A movement to keep Shanghai and its vicinity clear of all troops was started yesterday by prominent Chinese merchants and educationalists as a sequence to the commotion caused by the reported coming of Admiral Tu Sih-kwei with 6,000 troops to oust the local Defense Commissioner, General Ho Feng-lin.

Despite the announcement by the local Admiralty House that Admiral Tu had wirelessed to state that he would not accept the new appointment and was proceeding to Peking to decline the honor, local Chinese did not consider the incident closed. They believe that so long there are troops in Shanghai, others would come in to offset their power and clashes are unavoidable.

The merchants believe that in sending the telegram protesting against the reported arrival of Admiral Tu, the commercial interests in Shanghai had done all they could to help the local Defence Commissioner and it is now up to the Commissioner to devise means whereby the permanent tranquility of the city can be maintained.

It is pointed out that the presence of any forces in Shanghai is detrimental to the interest of commerce. The only government interests here that need armed protection are the arsenal and the Kiangnan Dockyard, which can be easily taken care of by the local Chinese police, which, they say, compare favorably with the police of any other part of the world.

Already great inconvenience is experienced on account of the proclamation of martial law in Nantao and Chapei since Tuesday. No communications are allowed in these districts except by pedestrians who are with passwords and badges. The local bureaus are exercising searching vigilance over any one who attempt to gain admission. Between the hours of 12 at midnight and five in the morning, the strict enforcement of martial law is observed. In the evening, pedestrians must go about with lanterns or other forms of illumination.

Some declaration is expected to be made by educationalists and merchants here shortly to sound General Ho on the proposal to send his troops away or to disband them, but opinions are not yet unanimous as to whether part of the troops should remain or the entire mixed brigade under Ho be eliminated. A certain section of the gentry favors the stationing of a limited number of soldiery here and appointing General Ho their military commissioner, who shall take orders from Nanking instead of from Chekiang.

Eight commercial and industrial organisations in Shanghai have called a joint meeting to be held on Saturday week at the Chinese Chamber of Commerce to formulate plans to rid Shanghai of military complications.

Farewell Reception For Father Croke

Members of the St. Joseph's Association will give a farewell reception this afternoon at the Catholic Club on Avenue Edward VII to Reverend Father John A. Croke, SJ., who is leaving for England Saturday on the s.s. Azay le Rideau.

Father Croke has been in Shanghai the past two years and was instrumental in organising the St. Joseph's Association and its kindred activities.

The reception today will be from 5 to 5:30 o'clock. There will be an entertainment program and addresses by Father Jaquinot of the Church of the Sacred Heart, and acting President F. L. Smith of the association.

GREAT THRONGS GREET PRINCE ON HIS RETURN HOME

Fifty Thousand Welcome Arrival Of Renown At Plymouth

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 21.—The return of the Prince of Wales fills the public mind. His Royal Highness is assured of a very royal welcome today at Plymouth and London and during his journey to London. Great crowds, including many school-children, will gather at the stations and cheer the passing train.

There is every prospect that enormous crowds will greet the Prince on his arrival here. The weather is very favorable. The streets are beflagged and shops and houses are decorated. A succession of triumphal arches has been erected in the borough of Paddington, each with an appropriate word of welcome. Window seats have fetched high prices.

It is stated that His Royal Highness is in good health, though fatigued. It is universally recognised that he deserves and must have a long rest after his exertions as the Empire's greatest Ambassador, which evoke very warm tributes from the press.

The papers record and prophesy the happiest effects from the Prince's visits to India, Japan and elsewhere and declare that, when the full story of his visit to the East is published, the King's subjects throughout the Empire will increase their admiration for the Prince's ability and his exact and unerring sense of duty.

London, June 20.—The Renown, escorted through the Channel by beflagged destroyers, arrived at Plymouth at 5:15 this evening. The streets of Plymouth, into which visitors had been pouring all day, were packed. Fifty thousand persons assembled on the Hoe, raising tumultuous cheers.

London, June 20.—When the Renown, escorted by five destroyers, took up her position inside the breakwater at Plymouth, a salute of twenty-one guns was fired. All ships in the harbor were dressed and aeroplanes flew overhead. The Duke of York boarded the Renown and greeted his brother. Subsequently the Renown proceeded to Keyham Dockyard where she remains for the night. Cheering crowds watched the ship's progress through the harbor. The Prince gave a dinner on board tonight at which the Duke of York was present.

The Prince will disembark tomorrow.

London, June 20.—The Admiralty today sent a wireless message to the Prince of Wales on board the Renown, welcoming him home and saying that the whole Navy had followed his

POST MORTEM ORDERED IN JONES' DEATH

Former Municipal Employe Succumbs As Result Of Brawl

A post mortem examination was started yesterday afternoon on the body of R. V. Jones, a marine engineer until recently employed in the electrical department of the Shanghai Municipal Council, who died yesterday morning at St. Juke's Hospital as a result of injuries received during a fight with an unidentified man believed to be a bluejacket from an American warship on Saturday night.

Jones, a British subject, came to Shanghai some months ago aboard one of the Dollar boats. He remained here and for a time was employed with a large British shipping firm, later going to work at the Municipal Electricity Works, Yangtszepoo. He remained there until the middle of last week, when he was discharged.

According to testimony given at the inquest conducted at the General Hospital yesterday morning before Mr. G. W. King, Coroner, J nes was in the Trocadero bar Saturday night with a number of bluejackets. The only witness who appeared before Mr. King, Eugene Joseph Hickey, 778 Broadway, told of taking Jones to the hospital Monday evening. He had seen Jones at 1432 Quinsan Road, and the latter had told him he had been sitting round a table with eight sailors in the bar room. All had agreed to buy a round of drinks each. When it came Jones' turn, he discovered he had no money and could not sign a chit. He walked outside, intending to get some money, when someone suddenly struck

Soviet Armies To Be Cut Fifty Percent

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, June 21.—It s reported from an excellent source that in spite of contrary statements in the Soviet press demobilisation of the Red army is continuing and that it has practically been decided to reduce it by 50 percent, not only owing to the great difficulty of finding supplies and equipment for a large army, but because certain units are so seriously disaffected that their retention under arms menaces the State. While carrying out demobilisation, however, the Soviet Government, the report goes on, has resolved to increase the number of Communist units.

REBELS ON WAY TO OTHER CITIES

Urgent Appeal Sent To General Wu Pei-fu To Rush Aid; Chinese Flock To Foreign Quarters In Endangered Cities, Begging For Protection

BY THE INDEPENDENT NEWS SERVICE

Hankow, June 21—(10 p.m.)—Official information has reached foreign authorities here to the effect that from ten to fifteen thousand Kiangsi troops mutinied yesterday and looted the city of Kianfu, and that the looters afterward started north in the direction of Changshu. Chen Kuang-yuan, former tuchun of Kiangsi province, left Nanchang yesterday upon learning of the abdication of General Tsai Chen-hsun, who telegraphed that he was no longer able to control the situation.

The British gunboat Cockchaffer is proceeding to Nanchang to bring out foreigners and the U. S. Monocacy will leave for that city as soon as she can take on a supply of coal. This boat will either bring out foreigners or remain there to protect them, as the situation demands.

General Tsai Chen-hsun has sent an urgent telegram to General Wu Pei-fu, asking for aid.

A telegram received by 'The Eastern Times' from a correspondent at Kianfu late last night stated that the mutinous troops had looted and burned three other cities in addition to Kianfu, and that they had killed upwards of 10,000 people.

The Kiangsi troops referred to in the above telegrams formerly were attached to the Northern army under the command of General Wu Pei-fu. When Li Yuan-hung sent out his circular telegram demanding the abolition of the tuchunate General Chen, Tuchun of Kiangsi province, was among the first to comply with his request, whereupon Gen. Tsai was commissioned by the Peking government to take charge of the Kiangsi troops.

(China Press Correspondence)

Nanchang, Kiangsi, June 18.—A launch loaded with Northern soldiers and ammunition bound for Kian on Thursday night burst its boiler, exploded its ammunition and burned up. Fifty soldiers are reported to have died.

Wounded soldiers continue to arrive from the front and foreign doctors and nurses have come from Kiukiang, Anking and Wuhu to assist Dr. Biydenburgh at the M. E. Hospital. Other foreigners in the city have been pressed into service and plans are being made to convert the Nanchang Academy and the Baldwin Girl's School buildings into hospitals if the number of wounded warrants it.

Dr. Kahn has placed all women patients on the second floor of her hospital and on the first floor is caring for soldiers. All of her nurses are girls but they are proving their worth in the rather disagreeable and difficult task of caring for the wounded.

In spite of the fact that General Tsai Chen-hsun has arrived with large numbers of reinforcements it has been quite definitely ascertained that the Southern army holds positions north of Kanchow and the Kiangsi people fully expect the arrival of Li Lieh-chun and the expulsion of the hated Northerners within the next two weeks. No other solution of the Kiangsi problem will satisfy Kiangsi people. The officials themselves have anticipated this situation for some time and for the past three weeks have been running extra trains to Kiukiang with their families and belongings.

Kiukiang, Kiangsi, June 19.—For a number of days the situation here has been one of aprehension. Several thousand soldiers have passed through on their way to Nanchang and farther south. The residents of the city are more or less alarmed. Some have taken their valuables to the foreign concession. Others are making application to for-

PEKING MANDATE MAKES KOO HEAD OF FINANCE BODY

Ex-Envoy Looked To To Get Boxer Cancellations

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, June 21.—Mandates issued last night establish a National Finance Commission and appoint Dr. Wellington Koo Chairman and order the summoning of financial experts from all parts of the country to take part in a discussion on all the phases of the financial situation.

Commenting on the selection of Dr. Wellington Koo for this post, the vernacular papers express the opinion that Dr. Koo's friendly relations abroad should aid in securing the cancellation of the Boxer Indemnity or at least in gaining its suspension for a period of five years. They add that in either case the revenues now allotted to the Indemnity might be allocated to the service of foreign loans. Incidentally, it is semi-officially stated that Dr. Koo's main task will be the funding of foreign loans.

The vernacular papers also say that Mr. Tung Kang, in the course of a recent interview by representatives of the Chinese press, said that while the financial prospects had much improved immediate necessities rendered it imperative to discuss a foreign loan, but that the Government had not approached any foreign banks in that connection.

EXPECT FIGHTING

Peking, June 21.—It is reported from Canton that, guarding against any possible menace from the Northern expedition, General Chen Chiung-ming has established a line at Shuichow and another at Yingtakhsien and that fighting may occur on this front at any moment.

Peking, June 21.—It is reported that General Chang Shou-tseng eigners in charge of school buildings, to be permitted to live within the foreign compounds.

A doctor returning from Nanchang reports nearly a thousand wounded soldiers in the city hospitals. Several foreign doctors and a number of nurses have gone to Nanchang to help care for the wounded. About a hundred wounded soldiers arrived here Saturday and are being cared for in the Mission and Red Cross hospitals.

It is reported that Military Governor Chen has resigned. He arrived in Kiukiang this morning, and is stopping at the home of General Wu.

London, June 20.—The death is announced of Admiral Sir Lewis Beaumont at the age of 75 years. The late admiral was Commander-in-Chief, Pacific, during 1899-1900 and Commander-in-Chief, Australia, during 1901-1903.

F. C. PENFIELD

(Reuter's Service)

New York, June 20.—The death is announced of Mr. Frederic Courtland Penfield, former United States Ambassador to Austria-Hungary, at the age of 77 years. Mr. Penfield was Ambassador to Austria-Hungary from July 1913 until the severance of diplomatic relations in 1917. During three years of the European War he was charged with the diplomatic interests of Great Britain, France, Rumania, Italy and Japan in Austria-Hungary. At the funeral of Emperor Francis Joseph he represented President Wilson as Special Ambassador.

He received the Cross of the Legion of Honor in 1904 in recognition of his prominence in discussing relative merits of canal routes which led to the American Government purchasing from the French Company all rights in Panama. Mr. Penfield travelled extensively in Africa, India, China and Japan.

Peking, June 21.—The truce at Shanhaikuan appears to have reached that stage where fighting may be said to have ended, but it is doubtful whether General Chang Tso-lin is taking his forces back to Fengtien. According to one foreign report, the Fengtien troops are freshly digging in outside the Great Wall.

Peking, June 21.—It is reported that the Secretariat of the Presidency will transfer to the Palace on July 1 from President Li Yuan-hung's private residence in the East City.

ACCOUNTS HEAD

Peking, June 21.—Three hundred and fifty-three Members of Parliament have arrived in Peking up to yesterday and have registered at the Secretariat, receiving their travelling expenses ranging from $100 to $400.

A member from Shanghai, Mr. Chu Fu-cheng, recommends sending funds to Canton immediately so as to enable the Cantonese Members to proceed to Peking.

Peking, June 17.—At today's meeting the Cabinet approved the appointment of Mr. So Huang as chairman of the Accounts Investigation Department of the Ministry of Communications.

It is also decided to appoint Surgeon-General S. C. Chuang as Vice-Minister of Education. Surgeon-General Chuang's appointment is made on the recommendation of Mr. Kao Eng-hung, because Mr. Kao is himself too busy to attend to educational matters. The new Vice-Minister has spent some time abroad, has been interested in education for many years and is sympathetic in his feeling toward the students. Surgeon-General Chuang was formerly President of the military medical college at Tientsin and worked with Mr. Tang Shao-yi in Tibet. He recently attended the Japanese Medical Conference.

Premier W. W. Yen verbally tendered his resignation to President Li Yuan-hung on Tuesday, stating that the ten days during which he agreed to act as premier had expired and he has no desire to remain in the office. Since Dr. Wu Ting-fang was not coming, Yen suggested that either Dr. Wang Chung-hui, delegate to the Washington Conference, or General Wang Shih-chen, the Chihli leader, should succeed him.

Yen is determined to quit his office on account of the opposition on the part of the Parliamentarians. About a hundred members of the legislature met in the Central Park Tuesday and passed resolutions denouncing the premier.

Canton, June 20.—The joint meeting of commercial circles held yesterday afternoon at the Office of the Provincial Assembly passed the following resolutions:

(1) The whole province of Kuangtung agrees with General Yeh Chu on his views with regard to the unification of the country.

(2) General Chen Chiung-ming is to be requested to return to his former post in order to maintain public peace in Canton.

(3) The contending troops under General Chen and Dr. Sun are to be asked to suspend hostilities and if either side should refuse to comply with the demand, that side shall be considered as a public enemy towards 30,000,000 inhabitants of Kuangtung.

(4) A reception shall be given in honor of Dr. Sun Yat-sen.

Southerners Show Signs Of Yielding

(Independent News Service)

Hankow, June 17.—Indicative of the approaching reunion between North and South China is the support and encouragement now being given to Li Yuan-hung by the hitherto recalcitrant independent, or semi-independent, southwestern provinces that until now have held themselves aloof from North China politics and withheld their recognition of the Peking administration.

Congratulatory telegrams, whose wordings indicate a fair measure of sincerity and willingness to abide with findings that may be arrived at in the present efforts to bridge the breach between Peking and Canton, have been sent to President Li Yuan-hung upon his entry into Peking by responsible heads of Szechuen, Hunan, Yunnan and Kweichow.

CALIFORNIA 'U' GLEE CLUB MEN ARRIVE FRIDAY

First Performance To Be Given At Olympic Theater Saturday Night

The first performance of the University of California Glee Club and Jazz Band will be given Saturday night at the Olympic Theater. The college songsters are due to arrive tomorrow on the President Cleveland, ex-Golden State, from Kobe.

While in Japan the Californians gave sixteen concerts, in all of the principal cities of the empire, and they were well received. Both foreign and native audiences greeted the collegians in Tokio, Yokohama and Kobe.

The type of program offered by the Glee Club is designed to meet the tastes of all music lovers, for the songs and instrumental solos vary from college songs and ballads, to plantation melodies and semi-classical chorus numbers. The program Saturday evening will be opened by the singing of "Hail to California", the college hymn composed by C. R. Morse, the director of the Glee Club.

Other numbers on the program will be a saxaphone solo by Earl Reed, a tenor solo by C. R. Morse, and a piano solo by Albert King. Jack Cole, Harold Girvin, and George Taylor will entertain with character songs and dances; and a saxaphone quartet and the Glee Club jazz band will furnish instrumental numbers. The songs which the Glee Club chorus will sing are greatly varied, and the collegians are prepared to offer the unusual "encore" songs which have brought them such popularity in America.

Because each of the men in the party of twenty-eight is capable of doing a specialty act, the Glee Club programs during the five nights' stay in Shanghai will be constantly changed. Director Morse has prepared four complete vaudeville shows of twelve acts each from the material contained in the Glee Club.

Tickets for the Glee Club concerts are on sale at Robinson's. Following the concert engagement, which will close on June 28 the Californians will give a cabaret dance in the Summer Garden of the Astor House on Thursday evening, June 29.

PRO-TREATY MEN FAR AHEAD IN VOTING IN ERIN

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 21.—The position of the parties in the South Irish elections late tonight were as follows:

Coalition Pro-Treaty	51
Coalition Republican	31
Labor	14
Independent	10
Farmers	3
Joint Panel Nominee	1

The returns are still incomplete.

London, June 20.—The South Irish Elections continue strongly for the Treaty. Mr. Sean O'Kelly, the former Sinn Fein Ambassador to Paris, was the only Republican elected in Dublin, where the other eleven seats are distributed as follows: Seven Coalitionists, three Independents and one Labor, all pro-Treaty.

Mr. O'Kelly was only elected on the sixth and final count. Vote counting in County Dublin has been adjourned until 3.00 in the morning because of 64 ballot papers being missing. Otherwise the pro-Treaty candidates, Darrell and Figgis, and the Labor candidate, Johnson, who easily headed the poll, would have been formally declared elected.

Mr. Arthur Griffith, President of the Dail Eireann, headed the poll for County Cavan. Other results in the provinces are equally striking for the Treaty. They include one Labor, two Coalition pro-Treaty and one Farmers' Party in Carlow, Kilkenny, where both Coalition Republicans were defeated, and four Coalition pro-Treaty, two Coalition Republic and one Labor in Galway where the anti-Treaty Extremist, Liam Mellowes, was defeated.

The results of the elections up to the present are 44 Coalition pro-Treaty, 25 Coalition Republican, 11 Labor, 5 Independent and 4 Trinity College, Dublin. Thirty-nine seats still remain.

Under the system of proportional representation, the votes transferred from Mr. Arthur Griffith's surplus secured the return of the pro-Treaty candidates, Messrs. Cole and Milroy.

Mr. Garan Duffy in a statement said that the elections showed that proportional representation had come to stay in Ireland.

An analysis of the votes of Dublin City shows 72,285 for the Treaty and 10,291 against the Treaty.

Independent and Labor candidates were greatly encouraged by the results. There was only one Labor nominee for the Leix and Offaly constituency but he polled over two quotas sufficient to elect two Labor candidates under proportional representation.

London, June 20.—In the House of Commons today, Mr. Winston Churchill said that he would postpone his Irish statement which was to have been made on Thursday, on the ground that Irish discussion at present might be prejudicial to public interest as there were so many uncertain factors.

HOW TO "GROW" A NEW COMPLEXION

These are the days of "hustling." In a week we see and do more than our grandmothers did in a year. We are gradually turning nature to be our servant; we use her great forces against herself. We have conquered sea and sky, now our doctors are fighting not only disease, but old age. There is talk of rejuvenating human beings by the injection of animal glands, but as yet, only the few can avail themselves of the treatment.

There is, however, one secret of perpetual youth that is in the reach of everyone. Scientists now realise that the only way of keeping the skin young and fresh is to examine Nature's methods and to find some way of imitating her.

SCIENTIFIC BEAUTY.

In order to explain the new method of keeping the complexion perpetually youthful, one must understand something of the nature of the skin. A baby's skin is always clear and smooth because the outer layer is always invisibly peeling off, and new layers are forming just as fast underneath, so that the exposed skin is always fresh, unwrinkled and "new."

For the first few years of our lives, this peeling is a purely natural process, but as we grow older, we gradually lose the power of throwing off our old soiled outer skins, so that our complexions become lined and yellow, and the new skin has no chance to show itself.

A few years ago, a scientific chemist realised that a little-known substance called mercolised wax, was exactly what was needed to "keep nature up to the mark." It appears that this substance, which is now universally obtainable, gently and painlessly assists nature in throwing off the soiled outer cuticle. The skin is thus perpetually renewed, and a clear youthful complexion can be preserved to any age. (Advt.)

Good Profits in Battery Charging

High efficiency and a minimum of personal attention mean lowest costs. Low costs mean greater profits.

The Tungar rectifier requires no attendant while charging. It is necessary only to connect the batteries, set the indicator for the required amperage, and turn on the current. The Tungar is self-starting, fused against reversal, and will charge at a uniform rate as long as the current is on.

The efficiency of the Tungar is very high and its upkeep cost low. Many users report a saving of from 25% to 50% in their bills for current. The 6-ampere, 75-volt set will charge up to thirty cells of storage battery from alternating current. As high as 200 batteries a month have been taken care of by one of these sets.

Ask us for further details

Tungars are made in a variety of sizes from a small 2-ampere charger for motor cycle batteries to a 10-battery charger for use in the service station.

Vice Conditions Subject Of More Correspondence Of Moral Welfare League

Another Series Of Queries Concerning Conditions In Settlement Are Addressed To Municipal Council And Detailed Reply Given

More light is thrown upon questions relating to the suppression of vice in the International Settlement and upon the scheme launched two years ago on recommendation of a Vice Commission to eliminate brothels from the Settlement in additional correspondence between the Moral Welfare League and the Municipal Council, published in today's issue of the Municipal Gazette.

A letter addressed to the Council by the Rev. Frank Rawlinson, honorary secretary of the Moral Welfare League says in part:

"The report of the Commissioner of Police, given in the report of the Municipal Council for 1921, says 'Prostitution and its attendant evils have in no way decreased, but have merely spread over a much wider area with the consequent impossibility of any effective police control.'

"We beg to ask (1) How has this estimate been arrived at?

"(2) What is meant by 'effective police control?'

"(3) Wherein does the segregation of brothels, licensed or unlicensed, increase the control of the police?

"We beg to point out in the first place that it is the segregation of the brothels, even when supervised by the police, that prevents decrease in prostitution, because it spurs on competition under official protection. In the second place, this statement implies that the police are cognisant, not only of the fact that the inmates of the brothels 'formerly licensed but now without license through withdrawal of same' are practising elsewhere, but also of their whereabouts.

"In this connexion we note that (1) Unlicensed brothels are forbidden in the International Settlement (By-law 34) and (2) The Vice-Commission's Report (adopted by the ratepayers vide Gazette March, 1920) said that the right policy is to eliminate brothels. For this Council officials informed the Vice-Commission that the 'Powers already existing were sufficient.'

"It is evident, therefore, that the adoption by the ratepayers of the principle of automatic elimination either within or beyond the period of five years allowed for the carrying out of the Vice-Commission's report, gives to the police the power to close brothels which have lost their license or opened without a license.

"In addition, therefore, to an enlightenment on the means by which no decrease of prostitution has been estimated, we beg to ask, in view of the fact that the police automatically have authority to close all unlicensed brothels, whether there could not be a more rigorous policy of suppression?

"The conducting of a brothel under the conditions created by By-law 34 and the Vice-Commission's report is illegal in the International Settlement. It would seem that when a trade is made illegal and broken up, and when the traders are driven into corners where even police control is ineffective, that the said illicit trade must seriously suffer and that any assertion to the contrary would require proof.

"We believe that a policy of suppression of brothels will result in a decrease of this evil in Shanghai as well as of its problems."

In its reply the Council through Mr. N. O. Liddell, Secretary, deals with the several inquiries of the Moral Welfare League, saying in part as follows:

"1.—The statement of the Commissioner of Police that 'Prostitution and its attendant evils have in no way decreased, but have merely spread over a much wider area, with the consequent impossibility of any effective police control' was made only after evidence of this state of affairs had been obtained as a result of direct observation by the Police officer specially engaged in brothel supervision work, and by Inspectors in charge of Districts; and by circumstances coming to the knowledge of the Police in the ordinary course of their duty.

"2.—Your second inquiry as to what is meant by 'effective Police control,' was, in the Council's opinion, fully answered in its letter of April 4, vide paragraph 4 thereof.

"3.—Although there never has been any official segregation of brothels in Shanghai, and no claim has been made that segregation in itself affords an increased measure of Police control, it must, I am to suggest, be patent that control is much facilitated when the object of control is concentrated in a particular locality or localities rather than spread over a wide area, and that this is more than ever so when the object of control is in course of suppression, as is the case with brothels.

"As to your remark that the Police implies that the Police are cognisant, not only of the fact that the inmates of the brothels, formerly licensed but now without license through withdrawal of same, are practising elsewhere, but also of their whereabouts,' I am to state that the implication admits of no denial.

"The matter of moment, however, is not the mere existence of the fact as stated, but the problem of its remedy; and, with this problem, I am to assure you that the Police and the Council are as deeply concerned as is the Moral Welfare League. Certainly, the Police are aware of the whereabouts of many of the ex-inmates of brothels who are now practising elsewhere, but unless they are practising in a brothel and such brothel is unlicensed, no legal action can be taken, since it is common knowledge that prostitution is not in itself an offence in law.

"From your letter under reply, it would seem that you have ignored this very important fact, as also others which have been brought to your attention on several occasions in the past. To mention but two: the Police are bound by the law in the same way as other people, and cannot act except where such action is legally justified; and again, the closing of brothels cannot in itself possibly stop prostitution.

"Much as the Council is in sympathy with the aims of your League, as with every other effort to promote the moral welfare of the Settlement, it is of opinion that easy as it is for the Moral Welfare League and others to advocate a more rigorous policy of suppression, it is in fact practically impossible to do more than is being done at present.

"That your League should hold a contrary view and consider more effective suppression possible, can, in the Council's opinion, be only attributed to your League's refusal to face the real facts of the case, and to the apparent confusion existing in the minds of its members regarding brothel-keeping, which, if not under licence, is an offence under a Municipal By-law, as distinguished from prostitution, which is no offence.

"In conclusion, I am to suggest that, if there are further points on which you desire information, or in respect of which further elucidation is required, it would be more satisfactory if you could call on the Deputy Commissioner of Police, who will be only too pleased to render every assistance in his power."

Charges Slavery In Malay States

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 20.—In the House of Commons today, Mr. Winston Churchill replying to Lord Henry Cavendish-Bentinck, said that mui tsai existed in Malaya among Chinese immigrants and colonists. The Governments of the Strait Settlements and the Federated Malay States are reporting fully on the conditions under which the system prevails. If the circumstances are found to be the same as in Hongkong, a similar course to that adopted in the case of Hongkong will be followed. He was not aware of the prevalence of the system elsewhere in the Empire.

Mr. Winston Churchill, replying to Mr. Josiah Wedgwood said that the British North Borneo Company in order to restrict gambling had invited tenders for the monopoly of the control of gambling rights throughout the territory not merely among the Chinese coolies on the estates as suggested. The revenue derived from this source last year amounted to £10,800.

FRENCH UNVEILS WASHINGTON BUST

Field Marshal, At Hall Of Fame, Claims First President Englishman

JOHNSON HAS SAME VIEW

Poe, Gilbert Stuart, Mark Hopkins And Maria Mitchell Also Honored

George Washington was claimed as an Englishman as well as an American by Field Marshal Earl French when he unveiled the bust of Washington in the Hall of Fame at New York University. And Dr. Robert Underwood Johnson, former Ambassador to Italy, said that Washington's services to England were so great that Englishmen had acknowledged them.

"We claim that this great American was also English and he conferred equal benefits upon us which have culminated in that close unity which now prevails between the Anglo-Saxon speaking races on both sides of the Atlantic," said Earl French.

"A few days ago I had the great pleasure of visiting Princeton and I there saw a very touching thing, the graves of an American and an English soldier, who fought against each other when living but are buried under the same sod. Now English and American soldiers lie side by side, they fought side by side and they fought for freedom and liberty.

"When Dr. Johnson first asked me to speak at the unveiling of the bust of Washington, I appreciated the honor but wondered why you selected a British soldier. But now I understand. This day will ever remain in my memory as a touching compliment when the citizens of this country show to me how strong is the friendship of the great English peoples."

MORE THAN FRIENDSHIP

"I use friendship, but it is far more. Political policies may come and political policies may go, but I am convinced that the friendship of the English-speaking people will ever be strong."

"We come to honor the first of America's great," said Dr. Johnson, "the name first to be chosen for this place and chosen by unanimous vote. The name of Washington is synonymous with America and synonymous with fame. But he was not only a great American, he was also a great Englishman, illustrating as warrior, statesman and citizen the noblest traditions of his purely English blood. The inherent candor of the English people has in nothing been more conspicuous than in their recognition of Washington's services to England."

Dr. Elmer Ellsworth Brown, Chancellor of New York University, welcomed the guests to the university, and expressed his especial welcome to Lord French.

"He had made himself one of us before we were aware of our newborn kinship," said Dr. Brown, "for when he led his Englishmen through the fighting of that desperate and glorious retreat from Mons he was holding back, delaying, weakening the blow that in due course would sure have fallen upon us, had not the great Alliance held firm till America at last awoke and saved herself through helping to save her friends. For that you are one of the saviors of our freedom, Lord French, you have come to your own when you have come to us here in this colonnade. May you come to us again. It will always be as our brother and our friend. Our Washington in the loyal and courageous separation of the eighteenth century prepared the way for a better union in the twentieth century, a union in spirit and understanding, a union for the freedom of mankind."

OTHER BUSTS UNVEILED

Busts of Edgar Allen Poe, Gilbert Stuart, Dr. Mark Hopkins, founder of Williams College, and Maria Mitchell, the astronomer, were also unveiled in the presence of a distinguished gathering. The guests formed in a procession that walked from the Gould Memorial Library to the colonnade, where so many of the famous men and women of the country have been honored.

Edwin Markham, who unveiled the bust of Poe, said he was the "saddest, the most misunderstood genius in our America. His fame sends the longest shadow from our shores across the world." Mr. Markham read an original poem, called "Israfel," two verses of which read:

"You sang your song; we gave you scorn for pay:
For beauty's bread we gave a stone; and yet
Because our eyes were holden on the way,
Remember to forget.

"Sing, Israfel; you have your star at last,
Your morning star; but we—we still must live!
So now that all is over, all is past,
Forget, forget—forgive!"

President Henry Noble MacCracken of Vassar College, where Miss Mitchell was professor of astronomy, told a story about Miss Mitchell in saying that he would be brief. She once wrote to the first President of Vassar:

"I wish to attend divine service, but I also wish to observe Saturn. Will you please make your prayer tonight a short one?"

"Maria Mitchell had a rare combination of an enthusiasm for research as well in the inner mind and heart of immature pupils as in the remote spaces of the firmament," he said. "True teacher that she was, her spirit irked at the inevitable restrictions of marks and grades, semesters and requirements, with which the calculating American purchases his education."

President Harry A. Garfield of Williams, in unveiling the bust of Mark Hopkins, said in part:

"Dr. Hopkins was a great teacher not only because he was master of the art of teaching, but because he employed it in the highest quest known to man. His high aim was to lead men to understand God's infinite wisdom and mercy."

Peking To Increase Wine-Tobacco Tax

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, June 18.—Among the mandates shortly to be issued is that appointing the Minister of Finance, Tung Kang, the Director General of the Wine and Tobacco Bureau. Working under him will be Mr. Li Ching, whose appointment as Director of the same Bureau will be announced. Mr. Li is at present Vice President of the Bureau of Immigration and Labor.

Following out his policy in the Ministry of Finance, Mr. Tung will institute a system in the Wine and Tobacco Bureau and provide for strict supervision of accounts by the Ministry of Finance.

As a result of the reorganisation which he proposes, Mr. Tung feels that the return to the Government from the Wine and Tobacco Bureau can be greatly increased. At present the revenue is some $30,000,000 which he optimistically figures can be doubled by application of proper methods and with the Bureau under control of the Ministry of Finance.

COUNCIL ANSWERS PROTEST AGAINST CLOSING LYCEUM

Approval Of Plans To Alter Structure To Be Expedited, Is Assurance Given

Following closing of the Lyceum theater by orders of the Municipal Council due to the fire risk in connection with the present state of the structure, further correspondence between the Amateur Dramatic Club and the Council, published in today's Municipal Gazette, sets forth two protests made by the dramatic organisation against the action taken.

In the first of the protests it is contended that the Council's experts "permitted the A.D.C. and the trustees to spend large sums on a theater which in their own opinion was due to be condemned almost immediately." The second point raised is that "no adequate notice was given before actually closing the theater, thus causing considerable financial loss consisting not only of immediate bookings of the theater, but of prospective future bookings."

Replying to the first of the two protests the Council says that the expenditures on the theater presumably were in connection with alterations considered desirable by the A.D.C. or the trustees and in connection with those deemed requisite by a former Council and such as would now be necessary had they not already been carried out. It is added that while the present Council has ventured the opinion "that nothing short of complete reconstruction could possibly render the theater ideal," it had not 'condemned' the theater except temporarily in the sense that certain alterations were required to render it reasonably safe.

On the second point the Council expresses regret that it was obliged to close the theater in a summary manner, but contends that "in its present condition the theater would prove a death trap in case of fire," and for that reason the Council could not possibly permit it to remain open.

Assurance is given to the Amateur Dramatic Club that consideration and approval of plans for the alterations to be made to the theater will be expedited as much as possible.

Britain To Ratify Limitation Pact, Lee Tells Lords

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 20.—The Washington Treaties Bill was read in the House of Lords today for the second time. Lord Lee said that the United States had practically completed the ratification of the Treaties and France and Italy had introduced Ratification Bills in their Parliaments.

Japan, where Parliamentary ratification was not required, was awaiting ratification by the other Powers, but presumably there would be no question with regard to Japanese ratification, especially as the principal Japanese delegates to the Washington Conference were ardent supporters of the Treaty.

As regarded the British Empire, ratification was a matter of course. Lord Lee emphasised that the Treaty surrendered the historic British supremacy of the seas in a spirit of trust and in the interests of world peace and solvency. Such a freewill offering was unparalleled in history, but the whole-hearted Anglo-American agreement for naval equality was perhaps worth more to our security than mere numerical superiority in ships and men.

We were running at any rate a theoretical risk, but we were giving effect to the Treaties without awaiting ratification by the other Powers, because without mutual trust the Washington agreements would inevitably break-down, and the world would be thrown back into the welter of suspicion and into the naval ship-building, which was bringing it to financial ruin.

Coolies Are Jailed Because Of Thirst For Mineral Water

Not every Shanghai coolie is content to drink his water from the "wells" with their free-to-all dippers that dot the principal streets of the city. The fastidious tastes of three of them, who prefer mineral water, led them into the Mixed Court yesterday.

Mr. Woods, of the Aquarius Company on Muirhead Road, appeared as complainant against Li Ah-kung, Wong Ah-zung and Wong Ag-sz, whom he charged with stealing 20 bottles of mineral water, valued at $5, from the premises.

The first was sentenced to two weeks' imprisonment and the others to three weeks each. A fourth has not yet been arrested.

Girl Injured In Motor Car Mishap

Miss K. V. Shekury of the Standard Oil Company narrowly escaped serious injury yesterday when an automobile driven by Judah I. Ezra collided with the ricsha in which she was riding. The accident occurred on Bubbling Well Road, West of Yates Road.

The injured girl was picked up by Mr. Ezra and taken to her home, 69 Rue du Consulat where she was found to be suffering from serious bruises about the head and body.

Bang Must Learn To Stop 'Banging'

Bang Wong-lai, a coolie, found living up to his surname a dangerous occupation when he banged Peter Veit, a health inspector in the employ of the Shanghai Municipal Council, in the chest.

Bang, according to the testimony given by Veit in the Mixed Court yesterday is employed as a coolie in a house on Astor Road. Mr. Veit, making a tour of inspection, found refuse dumped promiscuously about the premises and asked Bang why the health rules were being violated. Whereupon the coolie, Veit said, struck him violently in the chest and suggested in broken but emphatic English, that he go to the well known Satanic resort which is destructive even of asbestos.

Bang was given his choice of $5 or five days.

C. M. Bain Elected Land Commissioner

Official notice is given in the current issue of the Municipal Gazette that Mr. C. M. Bain is considered elected Land Commissioner of the International Settlement to serve for the municipal year of 1922. The need of an election for the office is eliminated by reason of the fact that Mr. Bain was the only nominee.

You will find Aerated Waters bottled in Syphons very economical. Frequently you want just one glass, but have to open a bottle for it. The rest is liable to become stale, or to lose its effervescence. With Syphons it is different. You just press the leyer and draw off what you require. The remainder in the hermetically closed bottle remains fresh and effervescent to the last drop. No looking for openers. We have sufficient stock of Syphons to comply with orders to any extent.

THIRTY-SEVENTH DIVISION BEAT TWELFTH, 2 TO 1, IN 7 INNING CONTEST

Pitcher Callery Tries To Do Too Much, With Fatal Results

BY WESTA

If Uncle Sam, sitting in his office over in Washington, D.C., U. S. A., is thinking of bestowing an admiral's stripes on young Mr. Callery, of the Twelfth Destroyer Division, he's better postpone the appointment for the time being.

It wouldn't do, just at present, for young Mr. Callery to be an admiral. As one might say, he isn't quite ripe for the job. If he were an admiral, and the country should get into a war with the Hunhootchies, Callery would order the fleet anchored safely in the outer harbor and go ashore himself, personally and alone, with the idea of cleaning up the enemy single handed.

Whereupon the Hunhootchies would do to him exactly what the 37th division's baseball team did to him at the racetrack yesterday when he forgot, temporarily, that there were eight other men on his own team in addition to himself.

Young Mr. Callery hasn't yet learned the first principle of naval tactics, namely: Let George do at least part of it.

It happened in the third inning. Two of the enemy singled after two were down.

Then along came Mr. Dinnis Dunlap, the enemy backstopper, with a pop fly that ordinarily would have settled into the eager and waiting mitts of the estimable Mr. Cluni, familiary known as Wop, who was playing second base for the Twelfth. But it didn't settle there for the ample reason that Callery tore after it himself, shouting madly for everybody to get out of his way.

When the pop-up finally descended there was nobody home except Callery, and he was out.

That gave Mr. Dunlap, waiting at the plate, another chance, and when the next one came sailing over the biscuit he busted it clear out of the lot, thus pushing in the two runs that were just enough to win the old ball game.

The Twelfth outfit shoved over one run in the opening inning, after which Smalling and his pals had them tamed. Kling, first man up, singled and was sacrificed to second. He then stole third and raced home while the Thirty-seventh's pitcher was throwing Hall out at first.

Both Callery and Smalling did a nice job on the hill, although the latter had the edge on his rival, allowing but five blows against Callery's eight. Both heavers had sharp support, particularly from the infielders.

California Net Men Are Coming

Wallace Bates, rated as the 45th best tennis player in the United States national lists, Conrad, Carrol Jensen and Alex Wilson, making up the University of California tennis team, will arrive in Shanghai on June 28 and will be here until July 8.

The crack collegiate team, which holds the championship of United States colleges, will meet several Clubs here. Secretary M. B. Brown of the Shanghai Lawn Tennis Association said yesterday that the schedule would be ready in a few days.

Baseball This Week

TODAY
Shanghai vs. Buffalo, 5 p.m. 7 innings.

TOMORROW
12th vs. Huron, 3:30 p.m. 7 innings.

SATURDAY DOUBLEHEADER
37th vs. 38th, first game, 2 p.m. 7 innings.
Shanghai vs. 37th, second game 3:45 p.m. 9 innings.

Baseball Notes

The big flock of customers wondered why the game yesterday was restricted to seven innings.

There were gobs galore in the stands yesterday but they weren't very noisy, for once.

If the sailors shortened their game with the idea of giving the field to the Shanghai team for practice their politeness was wasted, for only two local regulars, Maloney, infielder, and Gilmor, umpire, turned, out.

Mal and Gil got in some good licks with their bats, Mal against coolie pitchers, and Gil hitting fungoes. As a fungo hitter Gil is another Ed Walsh. 'E 'its 'em 'igh an' 'e 'its 'em 'ard.

After their classy exhibition against the Huron the other day the Shanghai regulars probably figured they didn't need any more practice.

Dunlap made a nice peg to second yesterday to stop a theft and deserved the out. The second baseman was too far back, however, and missed his man by a foot as he slid past.

Hirsch, Shanghai catcher, umpired behind the bat yesterday and got by without a murmur from the pastimers. The sailors are unusually reasonable on plate decisions this year.

Consul General and Mrs. Cunningham were in the customers' stands yesterday.

Frank Holliday, third baser, was at the park yesterday with his finger in bandages. The injury, while painful, will not keep the hot corner watchman out of the game very long.

Doc. Hudson, the w.k. molar exterminator, was on the players bench, pulling for both sides to win, and checking up the field ump on base decisions. Doc is neutral when both teams are alien, but when Shanghai is out there battling he's as partisan as the family watch dog.

There's only one guy on the payroll who is busier than Herby, and that's the foul coolie whose beat is back of the grandstand during the games. Sometimes the batters run that boy ragged, chasing him all over that sector of the race track between the New World and the Horse Bazaar.

BRIERLEY'S XI BEAT COOPER'S BY 6 WICKETS

Brierley's selected eleven beat N. J. Cooper's team on the Recs field yesterday afternoon in a friendly cricket match by 6 runs and six wickets. The match was a good practice for the younger players. The score was 71-65.

M. J. Divecha for the winning eleven scored the best run total with a 51 not out. His batting was vigorous and promised to carry up to much higher figures when the winning run was scored. He had to his credit one six, six fours, two threes and two twos.

Jensen for the same side had the best bowling average.

He took five wickets in four overs, for 14 runs, of which one was a maiden. Madar captured four wickets in five overs for 24 runs.

SHANGHAI FAVORITE IN INTERPORT POLO MATCH AGAINST HONGXONG TODAY

Speed Of Local Ponies Hoped To Give The Win For Keswick Cup

Hongkong Polo men will make another try this afternoon on the grounds of the Shanghai Polo Club for the coveted Keswick Challenge Cup, which has been retained by the local club in interport matches for some years past. The invading team will be captained by one of the stars for the local team in last year's match, Mr. C. C. Boyd, who recently was tranferred to the Southern port.

The game commences at five o'clock.

The match while it has until within the last few days been considered as a fairly open sporting bet, with perhaps a shade in favor of the visiting four has assumed an even aspect with maybe even a shade in favor of Shanghai since the final selections have been given out.

George Dallas, 52 years old and the dean of polo players in Shanghai, will play back on the Shanghai polo team. The eleventh hour shift in the lineup for the Shanghai quartet means that Archie David will play number one, E. H. McMichael will be at number two and H. G. Robinson is to play number three. N. W. Hickling and J. J. Paterson are designated as the Shanghai reserves.

The change in the team makes Shanghai a favorite for interport honors for it will be a better mounted team than Hongkong and, with the exception of Davis, the men have played together in several interport matches which were won by Shanghai.

Faster ponies and placing players in positions to which they are suited are the causes for the leap in Shanghai stock for today's game and it is quite freely predicted that Shanghai will take the cup for the third successive year. Shanghai won at Hongkong a year ago and two years ago took the honors in the match played here.

The addition of Dallas means much to the locals. He has fast ponies and the experience of many years of polo. Incidentally

Official Warning Given Against Summer Maladies

Health Department Urges Watchfulness In Preparation Of Food And Safeguards Against Mosquitoes

Warnings against maladies that come with hot weather in Shanghai continue to be published in weekly issues of the Municipal Gazette and by the Health Department and though the current report of the Health Department sets forth that the month of May was not marked by any special prevalence of communicable disease and both foreign and Chinese death rates remained about normal, the public is urged particularly to employ every safeguard against infection.

"The Summer months in Shanghai are undoubtedly the most trying and dangerous to health," says the Department's report.

"Heat and humidity combined put a great strain on the nervous system, and resistance against disease tends to become lowered. Microbes causing infections of the intestinal tract—especially cholera, the dysenteries and diarrhoeas—multiply greatly and increase in virulence, so that these diseases often become rife.

"Full instructions for avoiding infection are given in the Public Health Notice which can be obtained freely from the Health Office or from any one of the 16 Branch Health Offices. By careful observance of these, the path of infection from food to person is blocked so that diseases transmitted along that path do not occur.

ASK THE INSPECTOR

"The Health Inspectors are always at the service of those who wish for a special inspection of their kitchen arrangements, but all the inspection in the world cannot take the place of personal supervision over the preparation and service of food which is so essential to the maintenance of health.

"Mosquito prevention now becomes an important problem from the point of view both of health and comfort.

"For several reasons it is a peculiarly difficult one in Shanghai.

"The Settlement merges into open, low-lying country, beset with stagnant ponds, sluggish creeks, and kongs of all descriptions. Over these there is no control, and, so far, all attempts to obtain the co-operation of the Chinese authorities have failed

DEFFICULT CONDITIONS

"Myriads of mosquitoes breed on the borders of the Settlement, and though they do not usually go far from their breeding haunts, yet since a mosquito can fly of its own accord at least half a mile, and sometimes further, and may be carried long distances by winds, it is obviously impossible, under present conditions for the Settlement to be entirely free, although much more can be done to reduce their numbers.

"Within the Settlement itself, mosquito-breeding is not an indictable and punishable offence. The magnificent achievements of Panama and Egypt were made possible because the authorities were armed with compulsory powers.

"It is a regrettable fact that only a small proportion of residents in Shanghai, apparently, take sufficient interest in the matter to make a weekly survey of their houses and premises in order to get rid of all breeding places.

"The smallest collections of water are sufficient, but mosquitoes do not breed in damp grass, weeds, bushes, or the foliage of trees as is popularly supposed.

"Not only is there much apparent apathy, but instances have occurred of definite refusal to take, or allow to be taken, any preventive measures whatsoever, so that the whole immediate neighborhood has been infested with mosquitoes, and all other measures taken there have been in vain.

"Ornamental ponds are frequently great breeding-places, even when stocked with fish. Many of these are among the natural enemies of the mosquito, especially gold-fish, minnows and the small Cyprinodonts known as 'millions.'

"Fish are not completely efficacious if the margins of ponds are choked with reeds or water-plants.

DANGER SPOTS

"Observation has shown that ornamental ponds in Shanghai usually breed mosquitoes, and in such cases the advisability of oiling or of filling-in must be considered.

"The life history of the mosquito is roughly as follows, though it varies with different species and under different climatic conditions, especially those of temperature.

"The eggs are laid in water; in a day or two they hatch out into larvae or 'wrigglers': about a week later these develop into pupae or 'nympha,' and in two or three more days the winged insect—the imago—emerges.

"The whole process may take place in nine or ten days, and the length of life of the adult may extend to several months: in sheltered cellars and dark nooks some species may survive the winter.

"The importance of the practical co-operation of residents with the staff of the Health Department cannot be too strongly emphasised. The mosquito extermination notice gives essential information, and the Health Inspectors are always available for advice and assistance, but individual effort is necessary and all are urgently requested to play their part in the campaign."

America May Deport Madame Girenko

THE entry into America of Mme. Elisabeth Girenko, who was a friend of the late Czar of Russia and of the Grand Duke Alexander, was sponsored by Herbert H. Bigelow, St. Paul, Minn., millionaire, who said she would be educated and employed and not become a public charge. After an investigation of one year a warrant has been sworn out in Chicago alleging she will become a public charge, and her fate rests with Chief Howard D. Ebsy, of the Chicago office of the Boreau of Immigration.

A SPLENDID PICK-ME-UP

Nurse's Earnest Tribute to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Nurse H. Lindley, of 4, Shale Street, Eastmoor, Wakefield, England is a very busy woman. Her duties are most exacting, and her greatest asset is good health, for which she pays a glowing tribute to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, regarding them as invaluable in cases of debility.

"Six years ago," she states, "I underwent an operation for an internal complaint. I recovered from that, but an attack of bronchitis followed. This left me with a nasty cough, and a wretched feeling. I felt greatly depressed, and was so weak that I cried at not being able to carry on my work. I could not, try as I would, pick up at all.

"Then I decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial, and I began to gradually improve. I continued with the pills, and before long I completely regained my health. This was nearly six years ago, and I am still quite well.

"I can walk miles and not feel tired in the least. I have the fullest confidence in recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for they are indeed a wonderful pick-me-up."

Now is the time to begin Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Of dealers: or direct from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai, at $1.50 the bottle, $8 for 6 bottles, post free. For men and women too.

After 40-all, in that game Mrs. Enticknap missed one of Mrs. Norman's sharp drives, and then Mrs. Elmore netted a return for the second deuce Mrs. Mrs. Irwin lost the game with a missed ball from Mrs. Elmore's racquet on the side line, followed by a long outside drive.

Mrs. Enticknap started a lobbing game in the third, and the play became slower and more careful. Mrs. Elmore's outside drive lost the game, bringing the score to 2-1. The fourth game was won by Mrs. Norman placing an impossible short cross court placement beyond Mrs. Irwin's reach. Mrs. Elmore won the succeeding game with another pretty placement which Mrs. Enticknap failed to handle. The sixth game after deuce was lost on two outsides by Mrs. Enticknap and Mrs. Irwin. The final went to deuce and then was lost on Mrs. Enticknap's faulty return and a fast cross court short ace by Mrs. Elmore.

A fair attendance followed the play yesterday. Mr. Murphy refereed. The Cups were presented at the conclusion of the match.

DELEGATIONS AT HAGUE ACTING TO PREVENT CLIQUES

Effort Being Made To Avoid Repetition Of Genoa Trouble

(Reuter's Service)

The Hague, June 21.—The principal delegations are conferring with a view to deciding upon a general plan of proceedings and to prevent the possibility of the formation of a small committee tantamount to the Supreme Council, whose conclaves and decisions caused ill-feeling at Genoa.

It is proposed that the President and Vice-President of the Commission and the Chairmen of the three subcommittees shall form the bureau of the conference, whose powers shall be solely administrative and have nothing to do with the relations with the Russian commission. It will be the business of the President of the Commission, probably M. Patyn (Holland), to see the Russian Chairman on his arrival and to arrange for co-operation between the two bodies.

The Hague, June 20.—The full British Delegation will meet at the Palace Hotel tomorrow morning. The Empire delegates will depart in a day or two, leaving their interests in the hands of the British representatives.

Jonkheer Van Karnebeek today formally intimated to Russia the composition of the non-Russian commission on which, counting the Dominions as part of Great Britain, 25 countries will be represented mostly by two delegates each.

Great Britain will be represented by Sir Philip Lloyd Greame and Lieut.-Comdr. Woward Hilton Young, Financial Secretary to the Treasury, by Baron Avezzana and Giannini, Belgium by M. Catelle and M. Galopin, and Japan by Mr. Sato, Councillor of the Embassy, and Mr. Sekiba of the Ministry of Finance.

The names of the French and Dutch delegates have not been announced.

Shanghai Favorite In Polo Match

ly Mr. Dallas recently celebrated his silver wedding anniversary. He is one of the keenest horsemen in Shanghai and every morning early sees him start around the Race Course for his 20-lap ride. His decision to play this year means much to Shanghai hopes.

The match will be held today unless the rain continues and those who plan to see the battle are to be notified in the press and by posters on the street cars.

The two teams are fighting for a trophy which has stirred interest in interport polo for many years. The donor, Henry Keswick, was some years ago the taipan of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson and Company at Hongkong and before he retired and left for home, he announced his decision to give the silver cup for annual competition between polo teams representing Shanghai and Hongkong, matches to be played in alternate years at each port.

The teams will line up as follows:

Shanghai: No. 1, David,
No. 2, McMichael,
No. 3, Robinson,
No. 4, Dallas.
Reserves—Hickling and J. J. Paterson.

Hongkong: No. 1, Capt. Fisher,
No. 2, Mr. Bibby,
No. 3, Mr. Boyd,
No. 4, Capt. Neville.
Umpire, Mr. J. A. Hayes.

QUAKE RECORDED

(Reuter's Service)

Hongkong, June 21.—The Director of the Royal Observatory, Kowloon, has received a wireless despatch from Rangoon reporting that a volcano commenced at Latitude 15.54 North and Longitude 96.02 East approximately at four o'clock this morning, throwing up muddy water and matter to a height of 20 feet.

Cocoon Huskers Go Back To Work

Three hundred girls employed as cocoon huskers at the Yue Ying filature at No. 1 Wuchow Road returned to work yesterday after a strike of three days when part of their demands for higher wages was granted. The workers, who are paid by the basket at varying rates for husking of cocoons, demanded an increase of twenty percent and agreed to resume work when an increase of ten percent was conceded. It is reported that a like increase for this character of work will be granted by other silk filatures.

Bill Introduced For Oil Payment

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 21.—The Standing Committee has ordered a bill to be reported unamended to the House of Commons, authorising payments not exceeding £950,000 to meet calls on the State's shares in the Anglo-Persian Oil Company. Sir John Baird, home undersecretary, stated that the money would be spent wholly for development in Persia. A proposal that the Company's vessels should be registered as British evoked a long discussion. Sir John Baird advised against the amendment which was withdrawn.

"Health Better than it has been for Years."

Our portrait is of Mrs. WOODROW, of 56, Robinson Road, Tooting, London, England, whose husband writes:

"My wife has suffered very badly for the past four or five years with Piles, being unable to sleep at night or get any relief during the day. She tried several advertised remedies, none of which did her any good. Some three weeks ago she thought she would try 'Clarke's Blood Mixture,' and before she had taken half a bottle she was better, and by the time she had finished the second bottle she was quite cured. She can now sleep well, eat well, and get about her work, and her general health is better than it has been for years." In a further letter some eight months later Mr. Woodrow writes: "I am pleased to say that since my wife's cure of Piles in September, 1918, there has been no sign of return of the trouble."

CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE, by reason of its remarkable blood purifying properties, can be relied upon to give speedy relief and lasting benefit in cases of Eczema, Bad Legs, Abscesses, Ulcers, Boils, Pimples, Eruptions, Piles, Glandular Swellings, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Gout. Progress Made At Nantungchow Astonishes Chang's Birthday Visitors

Splendid Entertainment Provided For Shanghai Delegation At Natal Festivities Of Chang Chien

Representatives of the American, British, Chinese, French and Japanese Chambers of Commerce who went to Nantungchow on Sunday to take part in the birthday celebration of Chang Chien, China's greatest industrial magnate, returned here yesterday on the Vulcan, Suiyang Maru and Tatung. The journey, to practically everyone in the Shanghai delegation, had been a complete revelation of an efficiency in industry whose existence they had not hitherto conceived.

Splendid provisions for the entertainment of the visitors had been made at Nantungchow. At the wharf they were greeted by a company of police and a company of soldiery, who presented arms in salute. A reception committee escorted them to the Nantungchow Club, one of Chang Chien's community enterprises, where luncheon was served. There followed two days of continued sightseeing.

Chang Chien has built 50 li of crushed rock road in the city proper and 700 li of dirt road in the suburbs so that sightseeing in Nantungchow is a pleasure compared to the vast majority of Chinese cities. The first visit made by the delegations was to the Tan Ga Chah Mills. The Da Sun Mill has 60,588 spindles in operation and buildings are now being finished which will allow the installation of 10,000 more and 500 more looms. Other mills in connection with Chang Chien's mill enterprises have over 100,000 spindles and over 1,000 looms.

Chang Chien has also established a textile college in connection with the mills and 180 students are studying spinning, weaving, mill chemistry and textile science on new, modern machinery, much of which is American. Two returned students from American textile schools are important cogs in the administration of the mills.

RECEIVES GUESTS

Chang Chien received guests in his villa Monday morning, surrounded by a treasure trove of birthday presents. The foreign delegations paid a formal call to present their compliments and then returned to the Nantung Club for dinner. After dinner they were the guests of the various organisations of Nantungchow at a theater party at the Municipal theater, another of Chang Chien's progressive enterprises.

Mei Lan-fang, China's greatest female impersonator, Yang Shia-leo, the Douglas Fairbanks of the Chinese stage, and Wong Foong-ching, the country's greatest singing actor were especially imported for the birthday theater party and gave marvelous performances. During the performance a mob of theatrical fans who were unable to gain admission because of the crowd, became enraged and threw stones through one of the windows. A small panic ensued but was quickly stopped by Chang Chien's crack police organisation.

OFFICIAL CALL

On Tuesday the foreign delegations paid their official birthday call on the great industrial leader. Hundreds of Chinese passed through the reception room of Chang Chien's beautiful villa, kowtowing three times as they passed Mr. Chang, but he stepped forward and shook hands with the foreign delegations when they arrived. The American Chamber of Commerce presented Mr. Chang with a large scroll, and Mr. Paul P. Whitham of the Asia Development Company also presented him with a scroll.

Following the official call the delegations visited the gardens and museum Mr. Chang formerly owned but which he has now turned over to the city of Nantungchow. The museum is especially interesting because of the wonderful exhibit of old Chinese implements, scrolls and statues. The rest of the morning was spent in visiting Lang Shan, the original home of the Langshan chicken. Lang Shan is one of three high hills overlooking the Yangtsze. Perched on top is a well kept and beautiful pagoda, and on the side, overlooking the city ten miles away is a gigantic statue of the Goddess of Mercy and a temple erected in her honor by Mrs. Chang as an expression of gratitude for the birth of a son, Chang Chien, Jr., who since his return from school in the United States has began to take an active interest in many of his father's enterprises. The Goddess of Mercy Temple is especially noted because it contains one of the finest collections of ancient paintings and rubbings of the Goddess of Mercy in China. It was formerly Chang Chien's private collection.

FORMAL LUNCHEON

The only formal affair was the luncheon on Tuesday noon at the Chamber of Commerce, a building which would do justice to any American city of several hundred thousand population, which was erected under Mr. Chang's inspiration. At the luncheon addresses wishing Mr. Chang birthday greetings and a continued long, happy and prosperous life were made by the various delegations.

Mr. V. G. Lyman, president of the American Chamber of Commerce, made the address for the American delegation, and Mr. A. W. Burkill spoke on behalf of the British Chamber. Mr. Chang replied briefly thanking the delegations for assisting in celebrating his birthday and promising that with good health he would continue his work and expand Nantungchow into an even greater industrial center.

In the afternoon the foreign delegations visited Chang Chien's Da Yu-ging reclamation project where 400 square li of arable land has been reclaimed. The Day Yu project has 826 square li and five other projects have 2,060,000 mow of land. The land about Tunchow is considered excellent cotton land and grows the cotton necessary to keep Chang Chien's chain of mills operating. In the evening, after dinner at the Nantung Club, an exhibition of Chinese fireworks was given in the public park across a lake from the club.

CITY DECORATED

Nantungchow was decorated profusely for the occasion. Thousands of Chinese colored lanterns were strung along both sides of all the streets, the buildings were masses of flying flags and bunting and scores of electric signs, many of them the character for longevity, were erected. Fire-crackers boomed throughout the day, three bands played continuously, and members of the reception committee guided the visitors from place to place ceaselessly during the entire celebration.

The British delegation returned on the launch Vulcan, followed by the Japanese on the Suiyang Maru. The American and French delegations returned on the Tatung.

B.W.A. GARDEN PARTY PROVES BIG SUCCESS

Brilliant Social Event Held At Home Of Mrs. Percy Liddell

The plans of the Sports Section of the British Women's Association for a display of tennis were interrupted yesterday by the uncertainty of the weather. The mammoth garden party, however, which was held in the spacious grounds of the residence of Mrs. Percy Liddell, on Avenue Haig, was quite the most successful event of the kind that this Association has ever given in Shanghai.

A large gathering of B.W.A. members, the Executive Board of the American Woman's Club, the American Consul General, Mr. E. S. Cunningham and Mrs. Cunningham, and several other prominent members of the American and British colonies were present.

Mrs. Alistar Campbell was one of the hostesses of the day, and Mrs. H. S. Sims, the first vice-president of the Association received the guests in the stead of Mrs. E. M. Gull, who was prevented from attending because of illness.

The tea-party was under the direction of the Entertainment Committee, consisting of Mesdames Craddock, Liddell, Worcester, Moysey, McMichael, Paul Viloudaki, Hancock, Pote-Hunt, Cromarton, and King.

After the guests had been received, several of Madame Kelvey's pupils gave an exhibition of dancing. Little Arline Harris danced the Highland Fling and another specialty, "A little bit of Scotch." Other numbers given by the girls included the tambourine dance by Kathleen Wilder and Doreen Lent; the Shadows Toe Dance by Flo and Nellie Field; the Song and Minuet "Alice Blue Gown," by Kathleen Wilder, Dorothy Harris, Doreen Lent and Ada Trueman; and a song and dance by Kathleen Wilder, Doreen Lent, Ada Trueman and Dorothy Harris.

After the dancing, the guests repaired to the lawn where tables had been spread, for tea and ices. During the course of the afternoon, Darcy Heron's string orchestra played popular selections.

An interesting note was injected into the afternoon's entertainment by Mr. MacGlennon who appeared in the full regalia of a Highlander, playing his bagpies.

At the conclusion of the entertainment, a panoramic photograph of the entire group was taken on the lawn.

Upward Trend In Cotton Prices Halt Temporarily

New York, May 26.—The present week has witnessed a halt in the upward movement of cotton. Many commission houses are expecting a reaction and would welcome such setback as affording an opportunity for replacing some of the lines sold out on the bulge, for opinions quite generally still anticipate higher prices later in the season, although there are those who believe that crop and weather damage talk has been exaggerated for market purposes, and that barring exceptionally bad weather during the season, there will be enough cotton to go round.

Undoubtedly conditions in the belt the last few days have improved somewhat, with clearing weather in the southwest. There are still, however, many reports of weevil from all parts of Texas which are attracting much attention as this phase of the situation is one which bulls believe will become very prominent before the season is over, not only in the southwest, but in central and eastern sections of the belt as well, as both winter and spring weather has favored the spread of weevil all over the South.

Some of the reports from South Georgia say that cotton planted early in that part of the state is now putting on squares, suggesting a very early crop and therefore little weevil damage. Likewise, one big cotton house in Dallas claimed that gross exaggerations of rain damage, particularly in Texas and Oklahoma, have been sent out in the last two weeks. It is admitted that serious damage has been done and much replanting will be necessary because of floods which have covered the low lands along creek and river bottoms, but otherwise the state as a whole is progressing quite favorably.

GOOD CROP

They say that stands as a whole are good, and their advices from West Texas state that the crop is in most excellent condition in that part of the state. Dallas cotton merchants have reported a continuance of the Liverpool and Havre demand, with some improvement in the demand from Bremen. Domestic mills, however, have been buying cotton only as they need it, according to these reports.

Spot cotton in Texas in compresses and in warehouses is said to be 66-2-3 percent less than it was at this date last year. A South Carolina merchant has written that he thinks the total crop will be rather over than under 10 million bales. He thinks the Farmers Co-operative Marketing movement and the agricultural bloc in Washington are bullish features that have not been emphasised enough. Looking ahead, a local cotton trader points out that if the April figures on exports and consumption keep up during the last three months of the cotton year, the total will be 4,500,000 bales more than last year's crop. As the carrying over was about six million bales, this trader figures it is possible by August 1 not a bale of American cotton will be left unpurchased either for export or by the mills.

MORE ACREAGE

A Washington student of crop conditions has returned from a trip through the Carolinas, Georgia and Alabama. His observations are that acreage in North Carolina has been increased 5 to 10 percent; South Carolina decreased 10 percent; Georgia increased 1 to 5 percent; Alabama increased 15 to 20 percent. The use of fertiliser he estimates as follows: North Carolina increased 5 percent; South Carolina decreased 24 percent; Georgia decreased 3 percent and Alabama increased 65 percent. Concluding his observations he says: "The reasons we cannot grow as much cotton this season as was grown in 1920 is that the amount of fertiliser used is only 55 percent of that of 1920, the weevel has infested the Carolinas and a considerable portion of the remainder of the Northern part of the belt since 1920, the industrial depression and unusual rainfall in Eastern Texas durink March and April. For these reasons I am convinced that twelve millions is the maximum crop will be much less than and with a wet June or July the crop will be much less than twelve millions."

Memphis advices report an unsold stock there of only 48,000 bales of which more than one third is not available to buyers, and says the same holds true of the other leading centers. Reports say the quantity available in Texas, Oklahoma, Georgia, the Carolinas, Alabama and Louisiana is also comparatively small. At Memphis there has been an agressive demand for spot cotton from domestic and foreign spinners at an appreciably higher basis.

Business in cotton goods has been somewhat less active during the week under review awaiting further developments in raw cotton, following the halt in the upward trend of prices. The New England strike situation remains unchanged, and advices from there do not give much hope of any immediate settlement, although various agencies are working consistently with such an end in view.

CORPORATION WINS PLEA IN MIXED COURT

Firm Held To Be American Despite Attitude Of Consulate

Ruling that concerns incorporated under the laws of the state of Delaware are not within the jurisdiction of the Mixed Court even though they are not officially recognized by the American Consulate, Assessor Blackburn and Magistrate Li have refused to take jurisdiction in the suit brought by Loh Ko-dzang against the Sino-American Stock and Produce Exchange and six individuals for $2,800.

The ruling, which has just been handed down, is looked upon as highly important by members of the legal profession here, as it establishes a definite precedent, it is claimed.

The suit was the outgrowth of a deposit which Loh alleged he made with the exchange and which was not returned. In his petition to the court, Mr. A. Ting, attorney for Loh, alleged that the corporation was a Chinese concern and that the individuals sued were Chinese citizens and therefore subject to the Mixed Court. He asked for judgment and that the affairs of the corporation be wound up. The company, he said, had been refused recognition by the American Consulate-General, which had not intervened in the litigation.

Mr. Robert T. Bryan, of Davies and Bryan, representing the exchange, filed a motion to strike out the petition on the grounds that the exchange was an American corporation. The Court upheld this contention.

NOTICE

The presence in the French Concession of wandering dogs constitutes, at this time of the year, a particularly grave danger. Many cases of hydrophobia have been notified.

In these circumstances special intructions have been given to the Police to organize, as from today, battues in which all ownerless dogs found in the streets of the Concession will be, if it is possible, taken and put in pound, or, if not, killed on the spot.

Residents in the French Concession, who will certainly appreciate the imperative necessity of this measure, are asked to take care that their dogs are not allowed out without muzzles.

They will also render a great service to the community if they will notify the Police or Sanitary Department of all cases of the death of suspected dogs occuring at their houses or in the neighbourhood.

(Signed) A. WILDEN,
Consul General de France.

REMINDER!

Efficient work and tolerable existence during the imminent hot weather is only attained with the help of ELECTRIC FANS.

In previous years demand exceeded supply and fan stocks were exhausted with resultant discomfort to those who failed to make timely provision.

Profit by their experience and purchase your fans without delay.

Jules Bois, Noted French Writer, Lost; May Be In China

(Chung Mei Service)

Paris, June 1.—Will somebody page Monsieur Jules Bois, writer and lecturer, of Marseilles, Paris, Buenos Aires and sundry other cities? He may be in New York, Chicago, Shanghai, Peking, Yokohama or Soviet Russia, according to his friends here who have been vainly trying to locate him for the last three years. He has not been heard from since he left France for New York to start a series of lectures on war, literature, bolshevism and the fine arts.

Jules Bois was a well known figure in literary circles in the French capital. He was a prolific writer of feuillitions, the serial, stories which are an indispensible part of the makeup of every French daily. He was an expert on the politics of the Far East. He was highly esteemed as a critic of poetry and the drama. His lectures were attended by what is known as "Tout Paris," in other words everybody, male and female, who aspires to be up to date on the topics of the day. Previous to his mysterious disappearance he had made several trips to the United States, delivering lectures in New York, Boston, Washington and other centers.

Now he is fast becoming a kind of literary John Orth, rivalling the fame of that Austrian archduke who dropped out of sight a generation ago and kept bobbing up in various guises all over South ica. The Association of Literary Critics, to which Bois belonged, sent him several communications last year to an address in New York but they have been returned marked "Unknown," Gone leaving no address." The French embassy at Washington has been appealed to without success.

His short acquaintance with Bolo Pasha, the levantine who died a traitor's death before a French firing squad towards the end of the war, has been evoked as possibly explaining the eclipse of Bois as far as is known publicly French authorities have no des to settle with him.

Having raked the capitals Europe, his friends now are mak an intensive inquiry in Shang Peking and Tokio, but with result as yet. Where is he, t ask the world.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

June 21, 1922

Spot and forward bar silver were unchanged in London yesterday. The New York price declined to 70⅝ cents and the London-New York cross rate improved to 445. The official Sterling rate here this morning was unchanged from yesterday, but the Gold Dollar rate was raised to 78⅝, and the Franc rate dropped to 900.

The market opened steady this morning, became easy later in the morning, and closed steady. The highest rate at which business in Sterling was done was 3-6⅝ for August delivery, and in Gold Dollars at 78⅞. At one time, however, business in Sterling was done at 3-6⅝, and in Gold Dollars at 78½.

The market closed with sellers of Sterling at 3-6½ for all deliveries to August, and of Gold Dollars at 78¾. There was nothing doing in the London silver market yesterday, which is reported as steady.

New York report their market as quiet, with small sellers for spot delivery.

Kornblum, is shown making film tests of a globe, special apparatus being used to record the curves of the globe during the constant revolution.

THIEF CHASERS IN CALIFORNIA FOR CONVENTION

Police Chiefs Of World Hold Twenty-Ninth Gathering

(China Press Service)

San Francisco, June 18.—The police chiefs of the world will convene here tomorrow to attend the twenty-ninth annual convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

During the week that the convention will be in session, August Vollmer, "scientific" chief of police of Berkeley, Cal., and president of the association, has prepared a program that reads like a university curriculum crammed into seven days.

The discussion will range from the best way to put armor on the shotgun squad's automobile to heredity, environment, and psychopathic personalities of criminals.

"The only subject we haven't included is that of the airplane thief," declared Chief Vollmer. "We don't have to deal with him just yet, although we probably will in a few years when airplanes become as popular as the automobile.

"That will present a new problem, and may call for the installation of 'sky cops.' When a thief takes his loot soaring into the air with him, and is a hundred miles away within a few minutes after the crime is committed, it is going to add to the complexities of apprehending him.

"Of course, the problem remains about the same in many ways as other forms of crime—that is, we will get him when he comes down. The majority of criminals aren't apprehended while they are committing a crime. We get them when they come to roost."

Rubber Growers Protest Restriction

(Reuter's Service)

Amsterdam, June 20.—Sixteen Dutch rubber companies have presented a petition to the Government to reject any scheme for compulsory restriction of rubber output.

This petition is an outcome of the departure of an important official, M. de Kruyff, for London to negotiate with the British Government with a view to a scheme for reduction of output.

Chinese Railways To Cut Expenses

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, June 17.—The Ministry of Communications is reported to have come to the conclusion that the only way out of the bad financial situation is to cut down expenditures. The greatest outlay of this Ministry is for new material and replacements. An order has, therefore, been issued to all the railways to cut down on these items.

It is estimated that there is on order some ten million dollars worth of material which has not yet arrived. Thus far there are no funds available to meet these payments unless something be done in the meantime. One plan suggested is to lengthen the payment period, paying interest in the interim.

The railway heads are instructed to get into negotiation with the various firms from whom material has been ordered and see if the terms cannot be altered to permit of deferred payments. In case that is not possible, the quantity should be reduced if possible, is the order.

Millerand In Morocco To Study Conditions

(China Press Service)

Paris, June 1.—President Millerand has just returned from a trip through Morocco, Algeria and Tunista, where he has had an opportunity to become acquainted at first hand with some of the strange customs of the oversea colonies of which he is the supreme ruler.

The natives accustomed to a display of gorgeousness in all official functions were astonished by the plain appearance of the chief executive and members of the presidential party who in the tropical climate were unable to wear the official top hat, cut away and striped trousers, and were obliged to substitute light sack suits and sun helmets.

The President received many rare and strange gifts from the heads of the various native tribes. According to a custom in Algeria the Pasha should present a distinguished visitor such as President Millerand with a mule laden with bags of gold, but the Pasha was sufficiently alive to the ways of European civilisation to realise that this would not be a practical gift and substituted a beautiful carpet woven by his wives.

Mr. Millerand was not able to see the wives of the Pasha but they were given an opportunity to take a peep at the President from a concealed position. The same privilege was accorded the wives of the Sultan in Casablanca who were hidden behind the chiselled woodwork of one of the hallways of the Palace along which the presidential party passed.

The presidential party was instructed to have all hand baggage ready and placed outside room doors before going to bed so that the bags might be taken away during the night onto the next place to await the arrival of the visitors. On leaving, Marrakech Mr. Leon Berard Minister of Public Works and Fine Arts placed his shoes outside the door for a shine together with his handbag. The servants took everything away and the Minister had to carry out the next day's program in bedroom slippers.

Mr. Millerand did not neglect his ordinary presidential duties while on the trip. Every evening before going to bed he read through the official telegrams giving the full account of debates in the Chamber and Senate and the reports of the Genoa conference. On several occasions government decrees and documents were brought over by aeroplane for the President to sign.

Son-In-Law Of Col. Harvey Arrested On Gun Running Charge

(China Press Service)

Trenton, N. J., June 19.—The Federal Grand Jury has indicted Colonel M. H. Thompson, vice president of the Auto Ordnance Co., of New York, and a son-in-law of Ambassador Harvey, together with seven others on a charge of violating the neutrality laws by attempting to ship arms to Ireland.

The company itself also is indicted on the charge which is the result of the seizure of a shipment of 459 machine guns from a freighter at Hoboken. The guns were concealed in the bunkers and their destination was Ireland, the officials assert.

Colonel Thompson is a graduate of West Point and was 17 years in the Army, his record including service in the World War where he commanded heavy artillery. He resigned from the army in December 1919, becoming head of the ordnance company.

When arraigned in the United States Court, Colonel Thompson pleaded not guilty.

POLO

BY DOMINO

POLO today! That is weather permitting. A strong and fast Hongkong four will endeavor to outride and outshoot the local quartette, and thus for the coming twelve months hold the handsome Keswick Cup.

It's a great game, and has a wider appeal today than ever, although its beginning is lost in the back regions of history. The word polo comes to us from the Tibetan "pulu" which means ball.

Albeit cricket, baseball, hockey, hurling, and aye, golf, loudly declare they are pre-eminent in the stick-and-ball-game. They all have to acknowledge that they owe their origin to polo.

Over 2,000 years ago the young bloods of Persia had a game in which sides of four, mounted on fleet ponies endeavored to place, with the aid of a crooked stick, a light wooden ball twixt two posts. It was polo under the name of "Chahnama."

In comparatively recent times—about 600 years ago—we read of the game being played in North China, and of course both stick and ball were produced from the bamboo.

Then the game attracted the Japanese. It is still played in the land of Nippon under the name of "Dakiu."

In England we do not hear of the sport until 1869. It is more than probable than some of the regiments returning from India after the Mutiny brought the idea of the game with them. That dashing cavalry regiment, the 10th Hussars, gave the first exhibition of the sport in England. It made an immediate appeal to military men, and very soon fine teams were representing the 5th, 9th, 12th and 17th Lancers.

The Hurlingham Club came into existence in 1873, and ever since it has been the home of the game. Great struggles have taken place between teams from America and England, and last year record crowds, representing all classes, witnessed the contest.

The local selection committee has had a big task to choose the best men to battle for Shanghai, and even at the last moment changed the likely personnel and made the pony a deciding factor in its choice. It is well said that polo has created a new animal: An animal with the power of a fighter; the high courage, class, intelligence and sportsmanship of a race horse—that's the model polo pony.

The great and historic game is played at high speed; it gives no time for second thoughts; it is full of thrills, and has the spice of danger that makes it appeal to the sportsman.

The game, this afternoon, to be played on the Race Course, should provide a fine exhibition of a sport that has come down to us with little change through the last 2,000 years.

That it has lately come to link the English-speaking races, is another thought. For victory and defeat, alternating, must, in the end teach something, what shall I say?—Respect? Faith? Maybe better words will occur to you. I note that Lord Lee, First Lord of the Admiralty, uses the word Trust. Following which he says, commenting upon Britain's great decision at Washington, "unparalleled in history" that the whole-hearted Anglo-American agreement for naval equality was perhaps worth more—meaning, of course, to the whole world—than "mere numerical superiority in ships and men."

Polo is a great game.

Great because it leads to something greater.

Does This Town Conceal The Treasure Of Solomon?

Sacred Wealth Of Jerusalem May Be Hidden In Ancient French City

I'm growing old, I'm sixty years;
I've labored all my life in vain.
In all that time of hopes and fears,
I've failed my dearest wish to gain.
I see full well that here below
Bliss unalloyed there is for none.
My prayer would else fulfillment know—
Never have I seen Carcassonne!

As if realising the famous lines of Gustave Nadaud, a rush of American tourists is booked for the "embrasements" of the antique French city, in the historical fetes, this summer.

The high perched, double walls will blaze with red fire ("embrasement," "brazier"), in memory of what the Black Prince tried to do in his "raid" of 1355. You can read about it in Conan Doyle's "Sir Nigel." As a fact, the Black Prince did not take Upper Carcassonne, which remained impregnable after its second, or outer, wall had been built by Saint Louis. Previously, others had carried it by storm—the Crusaders under Montfort, the Trincavel in 1240. Charlemagne, Pepin the Short, the Saracens and the Visigoths.

From the Visigoths date the secret and the treasure.

Wonderful old place! Up, up, you go, through frowning outer gates, between interior walls, over old drawbridges, through interior gates above which there are slits for pouring melted lead and boiling oil. It is no fortress, but a great town, full of tiny walled gardens, churches, granaries and public buildings, with inhabitants today who live in antique, narrow streets, who do no busines, who lead sleepy lives in the old strong town, swept and garnished for a show place, inhabitants who dream of the secret and the treasure.

SECRET TREASURE

They care nothing for historical fetes, and little for the tourists. Only the tourists have got them all excited. Even those who now come drifting down in springtime ask about the secret and the treasure. They talk of schemes of Lower Carcassonne to get the secret—which belongs, by rights, to those who live, up there, within the battlements.

"Syndicate of foreigners!" an old man scolded in his garden. "Lower Carcassonne would join them. Shameless! We have a search syndicate ourselves!"

Suppose you knew there was a treasure in your back yard? Or deep below your cellar floor? Or else under property some fifty yards to the left—which your father tried to buy, and failed? Suppose your folks had craved to find the treasure, back into the mists of time? Suppose your grandfather had leased a tower and dug—and the town council blocked him?

Would you like to see a foreign syndicate, backed by a French professor of history, come to measure, pump and burrow with modern appliances?

Suppose your uncle almost had it? That is to say, a strong clique in the council formed a company to hunt it—while most of the other property owners turned in to slyly hamper them? But the company was strong. They cleaned the Big Well (filled with stones and dirt nine hundred years) some sixty feet down, despite the dragging lawsuits—pretext of undermining adjacent foundations. Then, unexpectedly, the French government laid hands on the entire Upper Town as an historic monument.

Since then, the war department "holds" Carcassonne as "an adjunct to the Museum of Artillery"; but, as a fact, the sub-secretariat of Beaux-Arts does the work and makes decisions on the historic monument.

MANY HUNTS BLOCKED

Suppose all this, and you will have the situation of Upper Carcassonne, at this moment when rumors of a new search are in the air. Each century the folks of Carcassonne have been blocked by some new impediment. We think one hundred years is long. What of a town that has waited fifteen times one hundred years to learn the secret of Alaric?

They tell me every day is there
Not more nor less than Sunday gay;
In idleness and garments fair,
The tourists walk upon their way.
One gazes there on castle walls,
As grand as those of Babylon,
A bishop and two generals;
What joy to be in Carsassonne!

The bishop and two generals are of the time when the poem was written. Napoleon III had just put Viollet-leDuc, first of all antiquarian architects, in charge of cleaning up the marvelous fortifications; and Carcassonne was brilliant with inaugurations and the visits of the great, to mark the progress of the work.

It would have been a grand moment to hunt the treasure. Viollet-le-Duc had arbitrary power to dig (and prevent digging), tear down (and forbid tearing down), uncover, seek out and restore—on all but strictly private property.

Doubtless, the great antiquarian burned for the august secret; but his appropriation must primarily be spent on his architect's task. Also, blind burrowing on a large scale might have brought down a 1,000-year-old tower or two in crumbled heaps. Viollet-le-Duc was too wise and conscientious to risk it.

His work was mainly finished in 1865, when he had cleared away the parasitic "squatter" constructions which, in fact, had preserved the antique towers and walls through the last five hundred years; and the results were so magnificent that the pathetic aspirations of the song:

"And I have not seen Carcassonne!"

Have found their echo in the hearts of all the world. The sentiment is like "See Naples and Die!" Naples stands for beauty and the classic past, Carcassonne for the romance of chivalry and the mystery of the Dark Ages—straight back to the crash of the Roman peace.

And the mystery is the most august in all the world. For the lost treasure is that of the sacred wealth of Solomon's temple at Jerusalem, the consecrated books and vessels, the golden sea, the golden bulls, the golden table of the shew bread, the golden candlestick of many branches, the jewels of the Holy of Holies, the high priest's mystic breastplate, the dread lightning blasting Urim and Thummim ("lights," "perfection!") by which were communicated the oracles of the true God.

ORIGIN BURIED

Carcassonne had no beginning unless in the prehistoric Volkes, who made the first subterranean hiding places which Alaric perfected for the treasure. Caesar says they were past masters at it; and Cros-Mayrevieille, in his "Monuments of Carcassonne," says that the Big Well dates from them.

Behold Carcassonne, A. D. 70, an elected city, enjoying self-government, protected by Roman ramparts and protecting the route to Spain. Suppose 300 years to pass, in brilliant Gallo-Roman civilisation.

Crash! Down come the marauding Franks, A. D. 350—and were turned aside! Crash! come the Goths, A. D. 407—and passed on to Spain. Crash, crash! A. D. 439—and Theodoric, king of the Visigoths, enters conqueror!

A dear old lady let us look round her tiny, high-walled garden, in the very center of the big works, overlooking massive interior defenses, because she wanted to question me about Richard Kiegan and Professor Dupont. Is it true they found the secret in the war, while digging for oil with the Italians at Ravenna? Are the Rothschilds and the banks of Frankfort behind them? I replied truly that I had met Kiegan, once, as a speculator in such things as these—and, for the rest, knew nothing but the common tourist talk. She did not believe me.

"They'll bump into the French government," she threatened, then relapsed into the hopeful traditions.

HOW TREASURE CAME

"Every French school child knows," she said, "that the Visigoths made Carcassonne their bulwark against Clovis and his Franks; that Alaric II had his chateau-royal where the village, over there, still bears his name; that his mighty father, Alaric the Great, completed the Visigoth Towers—and brought the treasure."

She showed us an old well in her small garden.

"We have a Visigoth well," she boasted. "There it is. The jewels of the temple, golden boxes full of trespass offerings, diamonds, rubies, agates looted from the temple of Jerusalem by the Romans. Alaric brought all that to his stronghold, Carcassonne. And hid it in a well. We, who have always lived here, know it from father to son."

"Were they never removed?" I asked.

"Gontran, king of the Burgunds, took the town by storm, A. D. 585," her nice, bald husband spoke up. "But he had no time to seek the treasure—he was chased out promptly. The Saracens came up from Spain, A. D. 725. They battered down a piece of wall, took Carcassonne, but never found the treasure—there was not a Visigoth left to tell them."

"Pepin and his Franks bashed in another piece of wall, A. D. 765," said Madame cheerfully. "They burned and killed till not a Saracen was left; but neither Pepin, Carloman, nor Charlemagne, nor the Counts, nor old Roger found the subterranean chamber. Had they found it—here's the proof!—the sacred relics of the temple would have become the most venerated curiosities of the dark ages!"

HISTORY BEARS OUT

History agrees with the old lady. It seems certain that all trace of the loot of Jerusalem was really lost after Alaric hid the stuff in Carcassonne. Titus stripped the temple and deposited its treasure in Rome. Tourists, standing at the Arch of Titus, near the Coliseum, see the golden candlestick carved on it, as a trophy.

When Mr. Astor, 40 years ago, proposed to turn the Tiber's course to seek historic treasure, it was not this treasure. He knew better. Alaric, an Arian Christian, took the whole collection as a forced gift from Rome. The texts are clear.

Where did he put it?

"In our well!" says dear old Mme. Passavant.

"There are only five wells of the Visigoth Period," says Madame "and tradition agrees that deep subterranean passages lead to the treasure-chamber from a well and from a tower. But subterranean passages are numerous in our old town of violence. Some have not been used for 700 years and more. All the known ones end in barriers of debris or cave-ins. A friend of ours, who has one below his cellar floor, cleaned it out 300 yards and finally brought up against blind masonry. Working three months with pick and crow, he pried into, what?—the first floor of a tower! the authorities reprimanded him and made him pay repairs!"

IN SUBTERRANEAN PASSAGE

I asked to see. They took me to the neighbor, ruddy, jovial sport of 60, who was agog with curiosity. Had Monsieur Klegan signed papers with the government? Was the clue found in a stone coffin after Coucy Chateau was blown up? He fired off his questions as, lantern in hand, we descended to the cellar.

In the cellar floor, a round hole. Down the hole, a winding stone staircase. Now we walked in a vaulted corridor. What had it served 1,500 years ago?

We might easily have missed a low, arched doorway on our left. It took up to a stone-lined corridor, soon choked with stones and cement. Bar, pick and shovel lay on the floor.

"At it again, Bernard?" said Monsieur Passavant.

"To pass the time," the other answered sheepishly. "My son observed this other passage, cunningly sealed up, back there. Prying out the stones, we struck this lead. It is the direction of the Tresaut tower!"

I took the pick, with holy American ardor. ((What American does not crave secret passages?) In ten minutes I had filled three big baskets with dirt and debris—all to be carried to the surface! Slow, perspiring work? Bah, what is that, when you are seeking for Aaron's jeweled breastplate?

ABOUT THE SYNDICATE

Is there a foreign syndicate? Is the French government likely to permit a search of its priceless monument at risk of undermining old foundations?

The influence of two international banking families and a world motive like that of the Zionists might secure such permission—in case of a promising clew. Viollet le Duc discovered three vast underground passages, all terminating in cave-ins. One he judges to have been a secret exit from the city. The oldest tradition connects with the Big Well, from which, deep down, they say, a maze of passages must be threaded. Another legend connects with tower No. 21 (Tresaut) called for a long time the Tower of the Treasure.

My old friend of the sunny garden is worried.

"Lower Carcassonne is leasing private properties up here," he says. 'That means the foreign syndicate. Why don't they come to me, straightforward? I own one of the five Visigoth Wells."

Terror Is Hungarian Prelude To Elections

Government Resorts To Brutalities In Effort To Cow Bitter Opposition

BY EUGENE S. BAGGER

Those who have read Joseph Conrad's darkly glamourous masterpiece, "Nostromo," will remember the story of the fictitious Spanish-American republic Costaguana, a chronicle at once gory and farcial. There coup d'etat follows coup d'etat; revolutions and counter-revolutions revolve with a dizzying speed; murder, torture, pillage and blackmail, all set against a background of opera bouffe militarism, are woven into an endless and purposeless pattern of harmonic horror.

Today the annals of this mythical Costaguana, with their Guzman Bentos, Montero brothers and Colonel Sotillos, have come to life 5,000 miles away from their native scene between the Cordilleras and the Pacific. There is nothing in the last 100 years of European history comparable to the regime of Admiral Horthy in Hungary. For a parallel one must turn to the nightmare vision of darkest Central America evoked by the imaginative genius of Mr. Conrad.

Since the suppression of the last Carlist raid in October official terrorism in Hungary confined itself to more or less "legal" methods, such as the internment of the politically suspect, press censorship of unparalleled severity and ruthless persecution of opposition journalists. An instance of Magyar methods is the confiscation by the Minister of the Interior of the first Hungarian translation of Walt Whitman's poems, recently issued in book form. Whitman, with Bernard Shaw, Romain Rolland, Anatole France and Tolstoy, was put on the index by the Royal Hungarian wiseacres as a revolutionist! The other day Mr. Zoltan Szasz, universally regarded as the foremost Hungarian publicist, was railroaded of prison for two years and a half for contributing to a Vienna newspaper articles denouncing governmental policy. In vain the defense pleaded that the incriminating assertions had been made time and again on the floor of the Hungarian Parliament by conservative and highly respectable politicians like the Count Apponyi and Messrs. Rakovszky and Beniczky; in vain Mr. Szasz's unflinching stand against Bela Kun's Red Terror was recalled. The court ruler out all evidence tending to prove the truthfulness of Mr. Szasz's statements and limited the issue strictly to proof or disproof of authorship.

The impending general elections for the National Assembly have precipitated a renewed flood of terrorism such as not even Hungary has known since the bloody spring of 1920. This terrorism was the direct outcome of the realisation by the government that bitterness against the Horthy regime was permeated the entire people. Even its former principal supporters, the peasants, have been driven into fierce opposition by the policy of systematic atrocities tempered only by inefficiency. For several months the government lost every by-election by a large margin. Premier Bethlen recognised that a free expression of the people's will would sweep away not only the Cabinet but possibly Horthy's regency as well. It was decided to deal with this danger summarily. The government, promulgated a decree abolishing universal suffrage and the secret ballot, substituting a high educational test for voters and open polling.

This stop was nothing short of a coup d'etat and caused tremendous resentment. It should be remarked that all existing opposition to the Horthy regime is of a highly respectable character, uncontaminated by radicalism, for in Hungary Communists have been exterminated and moderate Socialists exiled, interned or intimidated. The opposition leans chiefly on a group of Legitimist aristocrats like Counts Apponyi and Andrassy, who since the death of Charles advocate the succession of his young son, Otto; on the Jewish upper and middle classes, who prefer a conservative monarchy to extra-legal terror, and on the moderately progressive farmers—mostly Calvinists—whom taxes, requisitions and military insolence have turned into fierce republicans and anti-militarists.

But the government is determined to suppress opposition at any cost. The notorious Captain Gombos, head of the hooligan society, known as Awakening Hungarians, is in charge of the government's electioneering campaign, which includes organisation in every city and town of strong-arm squads, armed with blackjacks, cudgels and revolvers. These squads are sent out to browbeat opposition candidates and to disperse opposition meetings, and will be used to keep opposition voters from the polling places.

But the opposition, led by men like Counts Andrassy and Apponyi, is rapidly adapting its methods to the emergency. One of the legitimist leaders the other day enunciated the motto, "We must combat terror with counter-terror." An anti-hooligan organisation is being formed by volunteers, mostly young men of good family, members of athletic and boating clubs, etc. These volunteers, who for some reason or another call themselves "Cranes," accompany opposition leaders to meetings and maintain order. Recently several meetings, at Debrecen, Pecs, etc., were broken up by pro-government hooligans, but at a Budapest gathering of the Andrassy party the tables were turned on the disturbers. About fifty young gentlemen, members of a fencing club, attacked two hundred hooligans who tried to silence the speaker and ejected them from the hall after a sound thrashing.

But these are mere skirmishes beside an outbreak of terrorism, which has set Hungary aghast. On the evening of April 3 a dinner was given at Budapest by the Seventh District Democratic organisation, consisting mostly of business and professional men of Jewish extraction. At 8:30 sharp a bomb exploded in the rear of the speaker's platform, wrecking the entire building, killing six persons and wounding leaders, including former Minister of Justice Barczy and Deputies Ruppert, Rassay and Drozdy, escaped death only by arriving several minutes late, owing, it is said, to an anonymous warning received by telephone at the last moment that "something was going to happen." Scores of mangled, writhing bodies lay among the wreckage. On the street crowds of assembled hooligans cheered the outrage.

It is assumed as certain that the bomb was set by the awakening Hungarians. A military expert examined the remnants of the bomb and found that it had been filled with ecrasite, and was of Bavarian manufacture. This is another proof of the contact between Magyar terrorists and the dissolved Orgesch, the Bavarian royalist mafia. By the way, it is well-known in Vienna and Germany that the assassins of Erzberger are staying at Budapest as guests and proteges of the awakening Hungarians. They have been there for months, unmolested by the Magyar government.

This state of affairs is viewed with apprehension in the neighboring states, where people realise that an eruption in Hungary may set all Central Europe aflame. A manifesto recently issued by Count Michael Karolyi, former President of the Hungarian Republic; Msgr. Hock, ex-President of the National Council, and former Ministers Jaszi, Szende and Linder, protesting against the electioneering coup of Premier Bethlen, created a deep impression at Prague, Belgrade, Bucharest and Vienna. But the Hungarian situation, it would seem, is regarded much like the weather in Central Europe; everybody talks about it and nobody does a thing

The Simple Mystery Of Specific Gravity

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

Eminent Astronomer and Authority on Subjects of Scientific Interest.

"Please explain in non-technical language what specific gravity means.—H. O'H., Philadelphia."

Stated in the simplest way, the specific gravity of any solid or liquid substance is its weight as compared with the weight of an equal volume of water. Numerically it is the same thing as density. It is a ratio, or relative value, determined by comparison with an arbitrary standard, the chosen standard being water—except in the case of gases, when the standard is usually air. The specific gravity of the human body is very near unity, i. e., the same as that of water, which is the reason why it is easy to swim.

The text-books on physics will beautifully mix up your ideas on the subject, and generally speaking the later the text the more incomprehensible the presentation appears to the unmathematical reader, though if you get command of the shibboleth it is easy enough.

Most people do not care for the shibboleth, which, however, is not a reason why the matter concerned should not be perfectly understood by them. There is unquestionably too much technicality used in ordinary scientific teaching. It either repels the student or narrows his intelligence. It breeds both master investigators and intellectual prigs.

If I have a cubic foot of walnut and a cubic foot of lead and threw them both into a pond of water, the wood floats and the lead plunges to the bottom, because the wood weighs less and the lead more than a cubic foot of water. Now, the water weighs 62½ pounds per cubic foot, and knowing that fact I do not need anything more to tell me how much the upward pressure of the water will diminish the weight of a body of known volume that is suspended in it.

If the lead instead of being allowed to sink to the bottom is suspended underneath the surface of the water from a weighing machine, it will be found to have 62½ pounds substracted from the weight that it shows when weighed out of the water. Since a cubic foot of lead weighs 710 pounds, if weighed in water its weight will be diminished to 647½ pounds.

A man weighs say, 200 pounds, but in water, and especially in sea water which is denser than pure water, he will float totally immersed except his nose, because his specific gravity is about the same as that of the water, and the pressure of the latter counterbalances his weight.

But, that being so, the volume i. e., the number of cubic feet (or inches) occupied by the man's body—a thing that it would be difficult to calculate from measurements—is easily ascertained. Simply divide his weight out of water by the weight of a cubic foot of water. Suppose the water is sea-water weighing 63.9 pounds per cubic foot; then divide 200 by 63.9, and the quotient, 3.13, shows the cubic content, or bulk of the man. If some sculptor wanted to find out how much lead it would take to cast a statue of this man of exactly life size, he would only have to try the experiment of floating him in water. The weight of a cubic foot of lead, 710 pounds, multiplied by 3.13 would give 2,222.3 pounds as the required amount of lead.

But now to return to the lead and the wood. Since the lead weighs 710 pounds out of water, and loses 62½ pounds when suspended in water, if we divide the former by the latter we get 11.34, which is the number of times that the lead outweighs its own volume of water, so that, according to our definition, 11.34 is the specific gravity of lead.

Then consider the cubic foot of walnut. It weighs less than a cubic foot of water, as is evident by the fact that it floats without being totally immersed. In fact, a cubic foot of walnut weighs only 36 pounds. To ascertain its specific gravity we divide its weight out of water by the weight of a cubic foot of water, getting for answer 0.576, which fraction is the specific gravity of walnut.

This fraction also tells us what proportion of the cubic foot of walnut is immersed when it floats, and if we directly measured that we would get the specific gravity.

In fact these experiments show that when we know the volume and the weight per unit volume of any substance we do not need to weigh it in water to find its specific gravity, for all we have to do is to divide the weight of the body by the weight of an equal volume of water. But if the volume and weight per volume are not known in advance, then we must try the weighing in and out of water. This is easy if the substance is heavier than water, but if it is lighter, we must submerge it by attaching a sinker, the difference between whose weight in and out of water must be taken into the subsequent calculation.

Various ingenious methods and pieces of apparatus have been contrived for such purposes, but the gist of the whole matter is summed up in the statement that the specific gravity of a body is its weight compared with the weight of an equal bulk of water.

The Road Of Dreams

BY REED HEUSTIS

Dusk, and the day is dying; night, and our cares have fled;
And a straight, white road to the long lost things lies smooth and fair ahead.
A road where old memories cluster and those who would take it may keep
A tryst with the fragrant and blossom-time days; the tryst that is born of sleep.
But the road is not always summer; its flowers not always fair;
Its winds are not always scented and often its trees are bare;
For it carries its meed of heartaches; it carries its share of pain,
As it carries its heart-lilt laughter like the sun that comes after rain.

But oh, all the joys it can offer; once more the dear days of our youth
Are ours for the merest of wishes—the days of our love and of truth;
For it's there that the lost ones can meet us; a touch of the fingers, and lo,
Up to our lips comes welling the heart-song, "I love you so."
Babes that were called too early once more may be cuddled and kissed
In a passion of love by mothers—a love that the little ones missed.
Fathers and sisters and lovers; and ever the Faith Star beams
On love that shall live forever down the age-old Road of Dreams.

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children
The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells, which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying power, are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them wilfully with narcotics. Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"Your preparation known as Castoria I have used for years in children's complaints and I have found nothing better."
JOHN J. LEFFA, M. D., Cleveland, Ohio.

"For several years I recommended your Castoria and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results."
EDWIN F. PARDEE, M. D., New York City.

"Your Castoria is a meritorious household remedy. It is purely vegetable and acts as a mild cathartic. Above all, it does no harm, which is more than can be said of the great majority of children's remedies."
VICTOR H. COFFMAN, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an efficient and speedy remedy."
A. F. FEHLER, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

"I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild, laxative effect and freedom from harm."
EDWARD FARRIER, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a sure and reliable medicine for infants and children. In fact it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments."
J. A. FARRIER, M. D., Kansas City, Mo.

IODISED THROAT TABLETS
Allay all irritation

THE General Public is hereby notified that supplies of "IXL" IODISED THROAT TABDETS, the remarkable new throat remedy that is now being so largely and successfully prescribed by physicians in Great Britain, are now being made available for residents in China.

Representing the latest advance in scientific throat medication, these tablets, by reason of their Iodine content, are indubitably superior to any other pastilles or tablets that have yet been evolved by scientific research.

Their use is positively indicated in all cases of Sore and Ulcerated Throat, Hoarseness, Quinsy, Throat Catarrh, Tonsilitis, Laryngitis, etc.

As a highly efficient throat disinfectant when epidemics are rife, IODISED THROAT TABLETS indoubtedly excel any other preparation yet put upon the market.

No malignant Diptheria, Influenza, or other germ can find lodgement on a membranous surface that has been subjected to the peculiar antiseptic influences of these tablets.

Pleasant to the palate, and allaying all irritation, each tablet, as it slowly dissolves in the mouth, releases, in harmonious combination with other fine quality medicaments, a specific quantity of the pure Tincture of Iodine, to soothe, heal, and sterilize the inflamed area.

WARNING:—All cartons of the genuine and original IODISED THROAT TABLETS bear the "IXL" trade-mark, and each tablet is embossed with the letter "A." Reject feeble substitutes.

All first-class chemists supply "IXL" IODISED THROAT TABLETS.

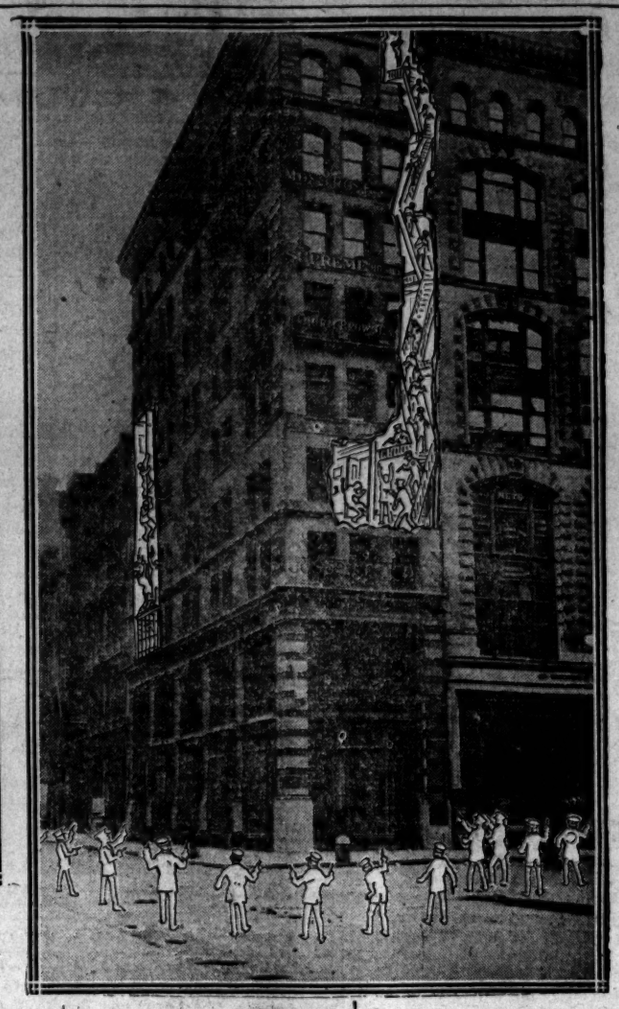
Army Of Police Surround New York Burglars



FIVE hundred heavily-armed New York policemen surrounded an entire block bounded by Fifth avenue, Broadway, Nineteenth and Twentieth streets, when "stool pigeons" warned them a $120,000 safe robbery was to be "pulled." After an all-night search and a revolver battle, in which scores of shots were fired, four yeggs were arrested, one wounded four times. The photo-diagram shows how the men were captured in two different groups, after trying to flee downstairs and slide down elevator cables. Three of the men captured (top to bottom) were: Henri Van Gulik, Abraham Finkel and Lewis Rick.

Blame Christian General For Looting Of Lushan

(China Press Correspondence)

Hsuchow, Honan, June 17.—A little band of Norwegian Lutheran Missionaries who fled here after the looting of Lushan and the destruction of their mission buildings by bandits have passed through such terrible experiences that even after two weeks they scarcely can sleep, so deeply have the horrible details of the sacking of the city been burned into their memories. All is gone that they built up through so many years; their buildings burned, records destroyed, converts killed or scattered, some still being held for ransom by the outlaws, and a once flourishing city practically reduced to ashes.

While the missionaries are full of plans for the future and accuse only the bandits for their unfortunate plight, the Chinese refugees are more outspoken and blame the socalled Christian General Feng Yu-hsiang. He, says the Chinese, sits in Kaifeng making laws for the abolition of the liquor traffic and writing edicts of banishment against "sing-song" girls, while bandits terrorise the countryside and loot inoffensive cities, his own soldiers opening the gates to the bandits and, the Chinese charge, sharing in the loot.

GATES OPENED

According to the missionaries, this charge of opening the gates of the city is well founded, the soldiers in charge of the city having accepted a bribe of $4,000 to let in the marauders who, despite their numbers, were poorly armed and could have been frightened away by a show of force by the soldiers. But they chose the more profitable course and stood by jingling the pitiful pieces of silver while the most terrible crimes were enacted under their eyes.

The bandits made their attack at 3 o'clock in the morning. When the gates swung open to their silver key, the force of between 3,000 and 4,000 scattered in small bands, bearing torches. The deeds of rapine and robbery which those flickering torces lighted are too vile and all too terrible to be detailed in your columns. Had the city put up a stout defense, no more terrible vengeance could have been wreaked upon the people.

The main street of shops was soon a shambles, as the slightest protest on the part of merchants was met with instant death, while many who tried to conceal their money and more valuable wares were tortured until they gave up the secret and then ruthlessly slain. The torch was then applied to whatever the bandits did not want to carry away and smoke of innumerable fires rose as the funeral pyres of the dead merchants whose apprentices dared not attempt to save even the little that was left or extinguish the blaze.

The bandits preserved some semblance of military discipline as they were led by officers of the troops of the late Tuchun of Honan, Chao Heng-ti. But this discipline showed only in their answer to rallying cries when some resistance was encountered. Such was the case when a party of them found the gates of the Norwegian Lutheran Mission barred.

BREAK INTO MISSION

In the mission compound was collected the wives and families of the Chinese Christians who had hoped some modicum of safety might arise from the general fear of the Chinese desperado to attack foreigners. This was not the case for the rallying cry "Yang Kwei-tzu" (foreign devils) arose and the bandits gathered in force for their hellish work.

It was the work of a moment to bring up a huge log from a nearby timberyard and with this improvised battering ram, the gates soon yielded. The missionaries inside the compound were prepared for instant death, but some higher power held the bandits' hands and gave a respite in which they pleaded for the lives of their converts.

The missionaries included Mr. and Mrs. F. Fredericksen and Miss M. Staurset. The Fredericksens have a baby four months old. With the baby clasped in her arms, Mrs. Fredericksen wandered through their quarters opening bureau drawers and handing over the family's small store of valuables, finally stripping off her wedding ring when the bandit chieftain demanded more loot.

Miss Staurset suffered likewise, handing over her personal belongings even to her clothing, the bandits waving their blazing torches at her hair as they demanded more and more loot. Then they roped her with one of the Chinese Christian women, and with a hundred other captives proceeded to the Northern Suburb shouting all manner of threats of nameless indignities in the ears of the unfortunate women.

It was an affecting sight and those who had to stand and watch these hapless captives set forth to death or worse, broke down and wept as they left the compound.

Mrs. Fredricksen and her baby then were taken away, despite the pleas of her husband that the family be kept together. He also was made a prisoner and after two days captivity, succeeded in getting audience with the bandit chief.

His argument that he and his wife and baby and Miss Staurset be released to avert possible foreign complications, finally was heard and the little band of missionaries made their way back to the once prosperous scene of their labors.

SCENE OF DESOLATION

Then back they made their way from the mountain den of the brigands to find utter ruin and desolation where only three days before had been peace and prosperity. The city streets still had here and there an unburied corpse. From every household rose lamentations for those whom the bandits had carried away into captivity and whose ransom must be paid even though they had been stripped of all their goods and gear.

Reaching the mission, their hearts quailed at the scene of destruction. Most of the buildings burned, books and furniture scattered and destroyed or broken beyond further use, with here and there a wisp of smoke ascending from some dying spark that well might symbolise their hopes.

Then they sent a telegram couched in language more urgent than polite, addressed to the Christian General, telling him in what plight his brother Christians had fallen due to the remnants of his late enemy's forces that still were at large to prey upon the unarmed and helpless. Help came a few days later, but with it came a message from the bandits, saying:

"We shall return and take our new vengeance upon those who called the troops to restrain us. Heed this and tremble."

Word was sent to Peking where it is understood the Norwegian Legation has taken the matter up with the authorities. Most of the Chinese Christians who were not killed outright or made to follow in train of the bandit chieftain, his triumphal trophy of captives, escaped to Hsuchow, some four score ll to the eastward. No word of a punitive expedition has as yet come from Kaifeng where the Christian General has his headquarters.

Students In Tokio Off On Rampage

Because of the failure of the Chinese Government to pay the students in Tokio who are supported by Peking, the Chinese Legation in the Japanese capital was wrecked by students on Monday, according to the Chinese press. The Charge D'Affaires, Mr. Ma Ting-liang, escaped through a window.

The students have not received any money from Peking for over half a year. Several demonstrations took place the last three months. As a result, Minister Hu Wei-teh returned to Peking and asked to be relieved from the office. Mr. Ma was Consul-General to Seoul, Korea, and transferred to Tokio on account of Hu's departure.

Hwang Not Keen To Take Up Post

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, June 17.—Although Mr. Hwang Yen-pei has been appointed Minister of Education, he still hesitates about coming to Peking to take over his post, the same is true of Mr. Tan Yuan-kai, who has been offered the portfolio of the Ministry of the Interior.

At today's cabinet meeting the appointment of Surgeon General Chuan Shou-ching to be Vice Minister of Education, was unanimously approved. Dr. Chuan is president of the National Army Medical College, and was recommended for this post by various leaders.

He is a native of Chihli Province and received his M. D. degree at the Naval Medical college, in Tientsin, being one of the youngest men to finish his medical work. In addition to this, Surgeon General Chuan has made four different trips to Europe and America on various Government missions. He is in close sympathy with education having worked in that field for over twenty years.
